RIGID PRICE CONTROL LOOMS IN NATION

F. D. R.'S AIDE HITS AUTO FIRM FOR INCREASES

Henderson Drafting Report To Be Used In Setting Up Legislation

MANY INDUSTRIES CITED

Measure Broad Enough To Cover Many Of Most Vital Commodities

WASHINGTON, June 26—Federal Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson today announced that he will freeze prices of automobile tires and tubes as of June 17.

Henderson, who has also announced that he will fix the prices of new automobiles because of alleged defiance of the Chrysler Corporation in refusing to rescind an increase, revealed that the schedule establishing ceiling prices on rubber tires and tubes at both wholesale and retail levels will be issued early next week.

WASHINGTON, June 26—Federal Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson today began drafting a report for President Roosevelt and Congress recommending enactment of legislation for rigid control of all prices after charging that the Chrysler Corporation had "refused to cooperate in maintaining stable prices."

Henderson declared in a formal statement that the Chrysler Co., which also holds huge National Defense orders, had declined to rescind recent price advances in its automobiles.

Because of Chrysler's action, he said, the government will be forced to step in and establish a "complete overall price ceiling" for new model automobiles which will start rolling off assembly lines August 1. Ceilings will be fixed not only on manufacturers' prices, he asserted, but "on dealers' markups and, in all probability, trade-in values as well."

(Editors Note: In New York, several furniture manufacturers announced price increases of about five percent, in addition to rises of five to ten percent which went into effect at the showing of new lines on Monday. The manufacturers held the price boosts to be justified and said there was no intention of rescinding them.)

In Answer To Plea (Their action was an answer to Henderson's appeal of the previous day that plans for such advances be submitted to him for approval.)

Henderson, who had asked Chrysler, Ford, Nash, Studebaker and Hudson Companies to rescind recent price advances, bitterly attacked Chrysler as "the first major industrial corporation which had refused to cooperate with his office."

"Had a similar attitude prevailed in other industries," he said, "the cost of living would now be out of control. Refusal of Chrysler..."

"WE'RE IN WAR NOW," AVERS RICKENBACKER

NEW YORK, June 26—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War ace and president of Eastern Air Lines, today was on record with the assertion that "we are in it (the war) and have been for a year but a lot of people don't realize it."

Rickenbacker made his statement on arrival from Atlanta, Ga., where he had been confined in a hospital with injuries suffered in a passenger plane crash last February.

Romania's Capital Hit By Raiders

Russian Planes Swarm Over City In Two Attacks In Daylight

BUDAPEST, June 26—Soviet bombers pounded the Romanian capital of Bucharest twice today, delivering two terrific air raids on the city.

The first attack began at 5:30 a. m. and continued half an hour. The second began at 6:30 and continued for nearly three hours.

Reports to Budapest said the Romanian port of Constanza, previously bombed by swarms of Russian planes, was in ruins and "still burning."

Deaths Reported

BUCHAREST—Several civilians were killed and injured when Soviet war planes raided the heart of Bucharest twice today, dropping 20 small-calibre bombs.

Convoy Attacked

BERLIN—The high command announced today that German submarines attacked a strongly protected convoy in the North Atlantic and sank eight merchant ships totalling 48,000 tons. German planes were declared to have sunk a 15,000-ton ship last night northeast of Great Yarmouth.

COUNCIL KEEPS PARKING PLANS STRICT SECRET

What City Council decided to do with the parking meter ordinance at its committee meeting Wednesday night will not be known until it takes official action on the measure next Wednesday night.

Only persons present at Wednesday night's discussion were the councilmen and Solicitor Joe Adkins, none of whom made any statements regarding the results of the session.

As the parking ordinance stands, it provides for thirty-degree angle parking with parking meters on Main and Court Streets. The four page ordinance, a product of months of discussion over Circleville's parking situation, represents a compromise between the merchants seeking angle parking without meters, and the traffic department calling for parallel parking with meters.

The Safety and Service departments have painted cross-walks and stop signs on most of the busy streets, but report they will mark no parking lines until a parking ordinance is passed.

WARM WEATHER GOES ON; USE OF COMBINES NEAR

Warm weather will continue for a few days longer, according to the local weather report, with the mercury hitting the high eighties Thursday and Friday.

Wednesday's high was 88 and Thursday's low 64. The weather is ideal for cutting wheat, farmers report, and by the end of the week most of the wheat will have been cut. Combines are expected to start working Friday or Saturday.

Auto Industry Girds for Major Role In United States Armament Building

Turning over 50 per cent of its capacity to defense work, the automobile industry is manufacturing these implements of war for the United States and Great Britain.

DETROIT, June 26—More guns, more planes, more tanks, "more bullets, more, more of everything," And Michigan's sprawling industries are answering the pleas.

From its automobile assembly lines, another 20th century miracle of mass production is being wrought.

With a year behind it, the automobile industry now is ready for volume production of more than a billion dollars worth of armaments. And they will be ready for millions upon millions of dollars in more orders.

The year past has been a tedious one of tooling over, making ready and constructing giant plants to house these vital tools and send a steady stream of armaments pouring into defense channels—not only for the United States, but for the world's embattled democracies.

The slogan of "defense first" has been taken up unofficially by the automobile industry, with the result that Alvan Macauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, could say at the organization's recent annual meeting that the period of experimentation and tooling over is now past. He added:

Defense Building Increases

"Approaching is the time when in terms of effort, expenditure and

FAMILY QUARREL LEADS TO DEATH OF OHIO WOMAN

HAMILTON, June 26—Domestic discord which flamed into gunfire when the mother of five children refused to allow her 14-year-old daughter to prepare a sandwich for her estranged husband brought death to Mrs. Della Wilson, and today left Lester Wilson facing a possible charge of first degree murder.

The daughter, Eva June, sobbed out to police her eye-witness account of the slaying: how her father came to the house with the offer of an auto ride for Mrs. Wilson and the children; how the offer was refused; how Wilson left only to come back later.

Her father, who recently filed suit for divorce, asked her to make him a sandwich, Eva June related, but her mother refused to permit her to leave the room. Wilson thereupon assertedly laughed, pulled a gun from his pocket, and opened fire. Mrs. Wilson fell, fatally wounded.

employment... defense production will be on a par with and ultimately ahead of automotive production."

He said, in effect, that our government, need have no fear that the automobile industry will shirk defense duties. Name the job and the industry will produce, he asserted.

Sacrifices? Yes, these have been made. Macauley disclosed that more than 500,000,000 pounds of "strategic and critical" metals will be made available to defense pro-

Chicago Papers Publish, But Ingenuity is Needed As Printers Quit Jobs

CHICAGO, June 26—The publishers of Chicago's three afternoon newspapers resorted to ingenuity today to keep their presses rolling despite the "wildcat" strike of members of the Chicago Typographical Union.

The Daily Times explained the situation under an editorial headed "Why the Times Looks Different." Typewriters replaced the idle linotypes at the Times. The typewritten stories were arranged in page form, the pages photographed, and an engraving made of the photo. From there on, the usual process of getting out the paper was followed.

The few headlines in the Times were also written on typewriters, photographed, and enlarged. The Chicago Herald-American and the Chicago Daily News composition was done in the plants of the Milwaukee Sentinel and the Milwaukee Journal, respectively.

SALESMAN WHO OPERATED HERE KILLED IN WRECK

Police Chief William McCrady said Thursday that he had been notified of the death of W. H. Birkshire, 70, a stock food salesman who operated in the Circleville area.

Birkshire was killed in a head-on auto collision in Delaware, Chief McCrady said that relatives came to Circleville Wednesday night to get Birkshire's personal belongings. He roomed at 155 West Franklin Street.

Briefly, here is what the automobile companies are doing:

and the matrices were rushed back to Chicago by automobile. The press plates were cast from the matrices, and the presses started rolling.

The Herald American left two columns open on page one for late bulletins, which were typewritten and photographed in Chicago in the same manner employed by the Times.

Staffs Go to Milwaukee

Both the News and the Herald American dispatched editorial staffs to Milwaukee to edit the news sent there from Chicago offices by special telegraph wires, and to make up the pages.

The strike began yesterday with a walkout of the unionists from the plants of the Chicago Herald-American, the Daily News and the Times. The union seeks a contract to replace the one which expired June 12, and asks that the new agreement include a $5 weekly in wages and paid vacations.

Claude M. Baker, head of the International Typographers Union, was quoted in Colorado Springs, Colo., to the effect the Chicago local strike was "entirely unauthorized," and that the I. T. U. advised the strikers to return to their jobs at once.

Leaders of the Chicago local admitted the walkout had developed a "unique" situation when the workers themselves decided to quit work.

Since the I. T. U. is an unaffiliated union, other craft unionists on the newspapers remained on the job, and the strike did not interrupt publication.

FILM DIRECTOR BEGINS DUTY WITH U. S. ARMY

HOLLYWOOD, June 26—Garson Kanin, one of Hollywood's most prominent directors, was a soldier in the Army today.

He reported for duty at draft induction station immediately after finishing a directing job at the studios yesterday.

Kanin was notified three months ago, but was given deferment to complete the picture he was directing, "Tom, Dick and Harry."

IL DUCE SENDS FORCE TO FIGHT AGAINST SOVIET

Mussolini Reviews Soldiers Prior To Departure For Positions At Front

ROME, June 26—The Italian government announced today that a Fascist Expeditionary Force will be sent to the Russian front to aid Germany against the USSR.

It was anticipated the force will leave for the front without delay. An official communique said Premier Mussolini this morning reviewed the first motorized division of the Expeditionary Corps chosen to be sent to the Russian front.

Il Duce was accompanied by Italian chief of the general staff, Gen. Ugo Cavallero and other officials.

Mussolini reviewed the troops at a city in the Po Valley where he arrived by plane.

He subjected the Expeditionary Force to a minute inspection and congratulated the commander on the excellent appearance of the men.

Then, after reviewing groups of wounded soldiers and relatives of men killed in action, Il Duce departed by plane to inspect two military hospitals.

LONDON, June 26—While no official comment was forthcoming here today concerning the Italian announcement that they were sending troops to the German-Russian front, it was thought that the Germans would use the Italians to keep lines of communications open and not as active fighting units.

NAZI CONSUL IN FRISCO BURNING HIS DOCUMENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26—Consul General Fritz Wiedemann and his aides were burning papers and records today in the fireplace of the Nazi consulate in the swank Pacific Heights district.

They were preparing to leave San Francisco in accordance with the government's recent order closing all German consulates in the United States.

"We are getting rid of papers and records in small amounts—rationing it, so to speak," Wiedemann declared.

The "rationing" was being done, he explained, so that smoke clouds would not attract attention. Wiedemann said he has not yet received orders from the German embassy in Washington, instructing him when and where to go.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN OF STATE GATHER AT PARK

Highway patrolmen from all over Ohio were holding their annual picnic at Gold Cliff Park Thursday.

Park officials estimated that 350 highway officers and their families were participating in the program of ball playing, swimming and dancing, and various contests.

Patrolmen began to gather at the park Thursday morning with the festivities opening at noon and continuing through the afternoon and evening.

Those attending Thursday's picnic represent only half the state patrol force, the other group having held its picnic at Gold Cliff a week ago.

HITLER POSTPONES STATEMENT ABOUT PROGRESS OF WAR

Moscow Declares Attacking Nazis Halted In Lithuania And Destroyed In Other Areas; Berlin Expresses Confidence

RED PLANES RAID TURKU IN FINLAND

Admiral Scheer Active In Atlantic; British Continue Heavy Attacks On Germany's Coastal Regions

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler decided today to let German guns and planes tell in their own deafening way the story of what were termed continued "smashing victories" over the gigantic Russian army.

Unexpectedly, he postponed a promised statement describing in full detail where and how and to what extent the Soviet army and air force are crumbling beneath the hammer-blows of the German military pile-driver.

Military observers immediately speculated as to whether this postponement indicated that German spokesmen were over-optimistic in their original claims that Russia would prove a walk-over. The incident served to highlight the latest war communique issued in Moscow, which claimed that Nazi spearhead units had been pocketed in Lithuania and repulsed or destroyed in the south and central sectors.

Staff Force Hit
In Berlin, however, there was no diminution of confidence. There was, on the other hand, a tendency to say that German victories were piling on one another in such rapid succession that it was difficult to keep track of them. Specifically, Wilhelmstrasse spokesmen told of a successful air attack on a Soviet staff headquarters, destruction of an armored column almost a mile long, and crippling blows to the Red air force.

And in the meantime bombs from the air found targets old and new. The Finnish port of Turku (Aabo) which was almost wrecked in the Russo-Finnish war of last year, was bombed again today, and once again the Finnish sky was red with flames. Another detachment of Soviet planes bombed once-gay Bucharest, causing casualties and undisclosed damage in the heart of what was once the "Paris of the Balkans."

To show that the Russian offensive is merely one chapter in an ever-expanding volume of war and destruction, the German admiralty made known that the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, sister-ship of the conquered and scuttled Graf Spee, has made a new name for herself as a raider in the North Atlantic. No less than 152,000 tons of enemy shipping sank beneath her guns on her latest raiding mission, it was announced, while other German ships and luftwaffe planes accounted for 97,300 tons.

FRENCH HINTED TO BE SEEKING SYRIAN WAR END

ISTANBUL, June 26—Six representatives of the Vichy government, headed by State Secretary Jacques Benoist-Mechin, were expected in Ankara on an important mission for the French government today. Reports reaching Istanbul said it was believed Benoist-Mechin was seeking Turkish mediation in the Syrian conflict.

(Editor's Note: A dispatch from Vichy said Benoist-Mechin would deliver a "friendly message" from Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to Turkish President Ismet Inonu.)

FORMER HARDWARE STORE OWNER DIES IN KINGSTON

John E. Jones, 69, a former hardware merchant of Kingston, died Wednesday at 9:15 p. m. at his home of complications after an illness of several years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Lloyd Jones, and was the last member of his immediate family.

He conducted a hardware business in Oak Hill before moving to Kingston in 1912 where he continued in the same business until 1935 when he retired because of ill health. He was a member of the Kingston Presbyterian Church and had taught a class in the Sunday School.

The Rev. L. V. Bauguess of the Kingston Presbyterian Church will conduct the funeral services Saturday at 1 p. m. at the home. Burial will be in the home cemetery at his birthplace near Thurman with Louis Hughes of Oak Hill in charge.

AAA STARTS TO ISSUE MARKET QUOTA CARDS

49 Cent Penalty Must Be
Invoked Unless Rules
Are Followed

OTHER DECREES LISTED

Meeting Scheduled Thursday
Evening In Lancaster
To Discuss Issues

While Pickaway County farmers were finishing their wheat cutting and preparing to market their harvests under the government's marketing quota system, the county AAA committee, Thursday, was filling out marketing quota cards.

Every wheat farmer in the county in order to receive payment for any of the wheat he sells must produce a marketing quota card at the elevator or take a 49 cent penalty for every bushel of wheat he sells, according to County AAA chairman John Boggs.

It is not necessary that a farmer have his marketing quota card to take his wheat to the elevator, but it is necessary that he have it before he receives payment for his grain.

Those farmers who have raised under 15 acres of wheat are not affected by the quota system and therefore automatically will receive marketing cards. No penalty will be inflicted on those farmers who have complied with the AAA program and stored their marketing excess in the normal production of the excess acreage unless a downward adjustment is made on the basis of actual production. Application for such adjustment must be made within 60 days after completing threshing of the wheat crop but not later than December 31, 1941.

A marketing card is issued to the producer only in the event that the penalty of 49 cents a bushel is paid on his marketing excess. The farmer who goes to the County AAA office will receive his marketing card after he has paid the penalty on his farm marketing excess. Once he has his card he may sell all of his wheat at market price. If he fails to get a card, however, he must pay the 49 cent penalty on every bushel he sells.

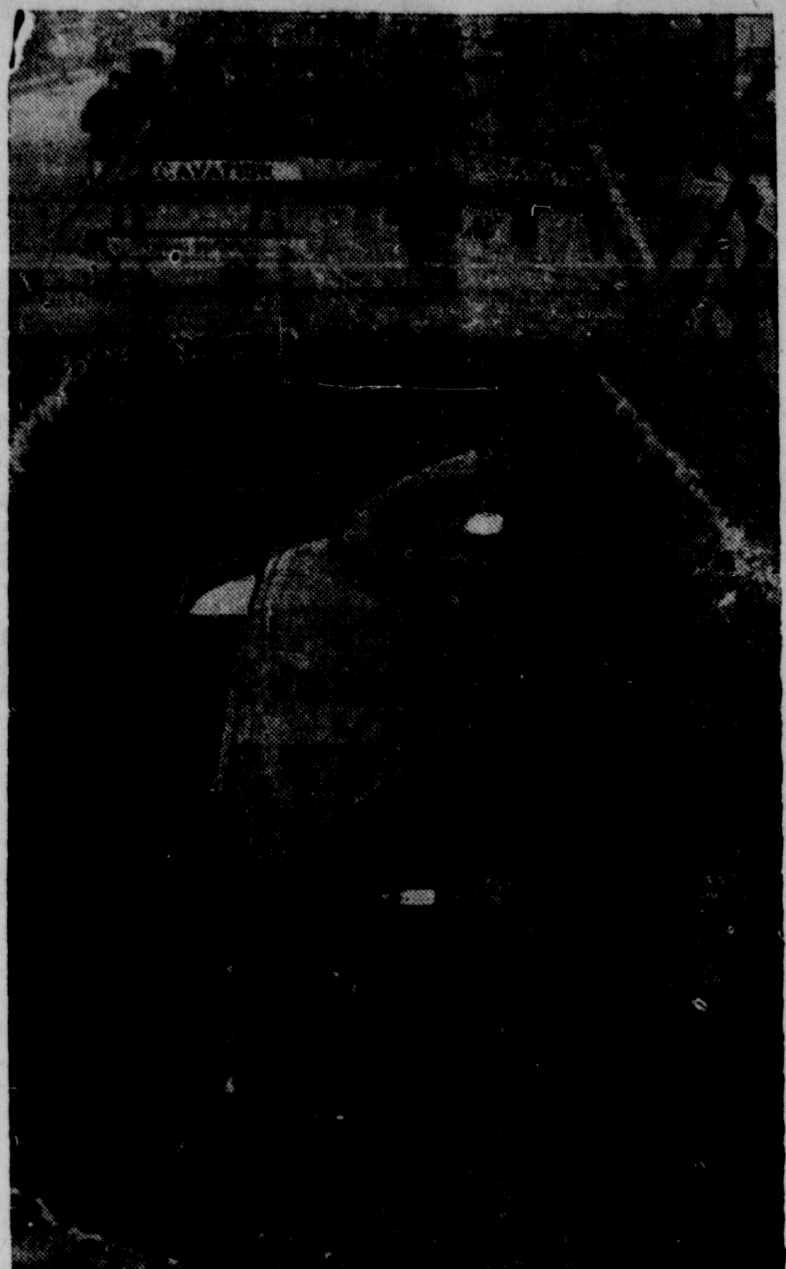

Local AAA officials and elevator men will attend a meeting in Lancaster Thursday night where the method of handling the quota cards will be discussed.

Wheat throughout the county is good this year, County Agent F. K. Blair has reported. Traces of rust are noticeable in some fields, but the crop as a whole promises to be good. Some farmers may start combining in a day or two, Mr. Blair said.

TIP TO WHEREABOUTS OF COLUMBUS GIRL FALSE

COLUMBUS, June 26—With another lead turning into a blank wall, authorities were without a single clue to the whereabouts of Mary Louise Glendening, 19-year-old art student missing from her home since June 2. Licking officials went to Buckeye Lake on a tip that one of two girls living in a cottage there was the missing student, but the tip proved false.

LABORERS, HOD-CARRIERS GET PLANE PLANT BOOST

COLUMBUS, June 26—Pay increases of 2½ cents an hour went into effect today for laborers and hod-carriers employed on the construction of the new Curtiss-Wright warplane factory at Port Columbus, eliminating one strike threat at the defense plant, but the status of the 156 AFL electricians who staged a protest walkout remained unchanged.

The electricians struck a week ago in protest over what they asserted was the employment of non-union men by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., in the installation of phones. Although the installation has been completed, the unionists are still out, and local spokesmen said no conferences looking to a settlement were scheduled.

The pay increase will affect about 100 workmen. In addition, laborers will receive an additional 2½ cent raise September 1, and hod-carriers a five-cent raise.

Board Awaits Passage Of
Exemption Act Before
Deferring Men

Sixteen young men, Pickaway County's second largest contingent, left Circleville Thursday morning at 7:45 for the induction station at Fort Hayes, Columbus. The group met at the local draft board headquarters at 7:15 and received final instructions from draft officials. Charles William Bricker, Orient Route 2, was appointed leader of the contingent.

At the induction station the registrants will be given physical examinations and those who fail to pass will be sent back. Under the present system, no replacements will be made of those rejected, according to local Selective Service officials, although the number of rejections may affect the number included in future quotas.

Included in the group leaving Thursday were several over 28 years of age, who under proposed legislation now in Congress would be deferred. Local draft officials have announced, however, that until the measure is passed those over 28 will be inducted the same as those under that age limitation, providing they have no other exemptions.

State Selective Service officials have informed Ohio's 330 local draft boards that they must decide for themselves whether or not to defer men over 28 who are scheduled for induction in the army in the near future.

The local board Thursday announced it had received an official call for three men on July 11. The announcement confirms a previous advance notice.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often
Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 13 pints a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 million of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. TWO CRUISERS MAY BE DRIVEN IN EMERGENCY

Circleville Oil Co. Donates 25 Gallons Of Gasoline To Safety Department

CITY'S FUEL FUND GONE

Safety Director Accepts Gift Made By Manager Of Concern

Circleville's police department cruisers will be in operation in case of emergency, at least for a while, following the offer of Leslie D. May, general manager of the Circleville Oil Company, to give the department 25 gallons of gasoline and a supply of motor oil for the cars.

Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann said Thursday that the gift had been accepted, and that the cruisers would be available in case of any emergency as long as the 25 gallons of fuel last.

The two cars have been in the garage for the last week following a decree by the safety director that they could not be operated because there was no money available with which to purchase gasoline.

Mr. May's letter to the safety director follows:

"Since the funds appropriated for the purchase of gasoline and oil for the police cars are depleted for the year 1941, making it necessary for you to issue an order to discontinue the use of those cars, we realize that you are handicapped in the proper operation of the police department.

"We, as a local concern being very much interested in Circleville, want to do our part in helping to have proper police protection for the city. We will therefore donate 25 gallons of gasoline and the motor oil needed for the use of the police cars so that they may be used, particularly in case of emergency."

HERE'S REPORT OF BIRTHS FOR MONTH OF MAY

Seven girls and eight boys were born in Circleville and Pickaway County during May, according to reports released by the city and county health offices.

The Circleville board reported two girls and three boys born during May and the county board five girls and five boys. Fifteen delayed certificates were issued by the two boards during the month.

Ohio Soldiers Learning Meaning Of Great Speed's Need in Modern War

CAMP CLAIBORNE, La., June 26—The importance of "traveling light" is being learned every day by the 18,000 Ohio soldiers of the 37th Division, now maneuvering in Kitchichie National Forest, La., under the command of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler.

Operating under strictly maintained war-conditions, the Ohioans are constantly on the move as their lines advance or retreat in the war-games they are playing. During the course of one three-day field exercise the men may not sleep twice in the same place, nor at two meals from a field-kitchen located where it stood the meal before.

Modern warfare, with its rapidly changing tactical situations, requires that the soldier be constantly prepared to pick up and move on to another location. In the Louisiana maneuvers the V Corps high command has simulated this condition, and sends the Buckeye soldiers first into a forward push, then into a quick retreat.

To the modern infantryman this is not a major problem. He is a self-contained unit. On his person he carries his tent, clothing, blankets, mess-equipment, water flask, ammunition, arms and many other items. Where he walks everything of his personal equipment goes.

Experts Have Job
But to headquarters staffs, kitchen units, engineers and many other more complicated units, a move is a huge job that has to be accomplished in half the time apparently possible, and must be done in spite of the heavy rains that are sweeping Louisiana now, and the difficulties of the terrain in Kitchichie Forest.

Modern, speedy trucks with all-wheel drive enable the 37th to cart its heavy equipment where it will.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Allison, Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Davis, Circleville, Route 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow LeMasters, Williamsport.

DELAYED CERTIFICATES:
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox, Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. William McKittick, New Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Green, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dean, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson E. Hoffman, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hartley, Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rector, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester E. Myers, Circleville RFD.

needs it. These powerful vehicles can plow through deep mud, lumber across country, or speed down the highway. On such a vehicle, for example, cooks load their equipment. Modern, compact, gasoline-burning stoves have replaced the time-honored rolling field kitchen. They fit neatly into the end of the truck body. Mess is now served over the truck's tail-gate, directly to the men, wherever they may be. A few minutes of efficient packing, and the entire unit is ready to roll again to the new position of the unit it serves.

Trained soldiers can move a division headquarters, and in a matter of a few hours have it entirely dismantled and re-established at a new point miles away. Signal company telephone men establish new switchboards and

Breeding Better Horses

Although horseradish root is perennial and will continue to grow year after year, the best quality can be obtained only when the roots are replanted frequently or when it is treated as an annual. This can be done easily by trimming off some of the small lateral roots when the plants are dug up for use.

CUT TOPS SQUARE

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, use pieces about a quarter-inch thick and cut four to five inches long. Cut the top square and the bottom oblique. Tie in bundles and store in sand over winter.

In the Spring, plant about four inches deep and about a foot apart, making certain that the square cut is uppermost. They may not grow if planted upside down.

phone service simultaneously with the erection of the headquarters' tents. Miles or wire, or "line", is laid from truck especially designed for the purpose.

The slogging, foot-weary infantryman is no match for modern warfare's requirements of speed and more speed. Trucks, again, supply the answer. Long convoys move whole regiments across country at speeds averaging 25 miles per hour. Recently the 37th Division moved its entire personnel, 18,000 officers and men, 300 miles in less than 36 hours over heavily travelled public roads.

Division Moved Quickly
A few days ago the Ohio soldiers dismantled an entire division headquarters, moved it and re-established it, ready for operation, between 1 p. m. and supper-time. In this operation were three large supply tents, twenty large wall tents, a mess tent, two complete field-kitchen set-ups, and an uncounted number of miscellaneous tents and other units. With all this went the office furniture and equipment for an entire division headquarters, the personal belongings of all staff officers, the office supplies for the headquarters, and all the personal equipment of several hundred enlisted men. The soldiers established the new headquarters, ate their evening mess there, and turned-in for sleep in the new area that night.

Recipe for getting Extra Action out of thin air

IT'S a cinch to build an automobile engine that's either one thing or another.

You can go in for power—if you don't mind the gas consumption—or you can shoot for economy if stirring action doesn't matter.

What's tough is building a car with two good ideas under its bonnet—like this Buick FIREBALL straight-eight with Compound Carburetion.

One idea is that it doesn't make sense to use a big, gas-gulping carburetor for your easy-going travel when you need only a little one.

The other is that you might as well have plenty-power on call when you can get it practically out of thin air!

So this Buick has two smaller carburetors instead of a single middling-size to big one.

One of them frugally handles all your low-power, round-the-town travel.

The other swings in any time you press down the gas treadle—and gives more lift and wallop—by increasing the supply of air!

Results include: More horsepower—and gas economy running as high as 10% to 15% above previous Buicks, according to owners.

Interesting? Then better get prices and see how little it costs to get this extra action—plus extra room, extra size, extra comfort and extra style.

He stated that "at the proper time" he will report the full facts of the Chrysler situation to the President and Congress. A price control bill has already been drafted, but it has been held up because of administration efforts to control the situation through Henderson's report. Henderson said Mr. Roosevelt will send Henderson's report, and the bill to Congress in a special message soon, probably within 10 days.

Henderson told Nash, Studebaker and Hudson to continue their higher price quotations because of the Chrysler action, and told Packard it would bring its prices into line with the boosts of the small independents. The Ford request, according to the OPACS official, is still pending.

To Control Commodities

It is reported that the bill drafted by Henderson is broad enough to control the prices of everything from bread and milk to automobiles and farm machinery. Administration sources in Congress say that the proposed legislation may carry some authority over wages, as well as prices, because wages are a vital part of the cost of products.

Henderson has already warned in some manner or another against increases in prices of bread, milk, motor cars, iron and steel products, pig iron, iron and steel scrap, aluminum scrap, carbon black, farm machinery, hides for shoes, and railroad car wheels. In all cases, he stated, he has received cooperation with the exception of Chrysler. He said that rescinding of price advances by the motor company would have cost it about $4,000,000 "out of the net sales of more than $750,000,000 during the present model year."

Chrysler, it is learned, offered to cooperate with Henderson if he took into consideration that unit manufacture costs have increased, but the price administrator called the offer "only a gesture."

YOUNG AVIATOR KILLED, FRIEND HURT CRITICALLY

TOLEDO, June 26—The flying careers of two 16-year-old self-instructed aviators came to a tragic end today when a small Taylor-Cub plane went into a tailspin and crashed, killing Francis Adler, the pilot and seriously injuring Raymond Berger, a passenger.

Air port attendants said Adler had taken his friend, who had 15 hours in the air, up for a ride yesterday to demonstrate his ability when the plane went out of control and crashed.

CLEVELAND, June 26—A mass of debris was all that remained today of a small monoplane which crashed in a wheat field in nearby North Olmstead yesterday killing its pilot George A. Kloos Jr., 23.

The plane spun earthward at terrific speed and hit the ground with such force that it dug a hole a foot deep in the field. Firemen worked 20 minutes prying the wreckage from the cockpit before they could extricate the pilot's body.

Although gasoline was spilled over the wreckage, it did not catch fire. Inspector William Jarrell of the Civil Aeronautics Board declared Kloos, a truck driver with three years' flying time, was unable to bring the plane out of a spin.

RUSSIA CLAIMS BIG VICTORIES OVER NAZI FOE

sonable ways and means of bolstering Russian morale but as not prepared to turn over important defense materials to the Soviets until their determination to fight to the utmost has been conclusively proved.

Isolationists Active

While the government made its plans, House non-interventionists planned a two-fold move to minimize possible transportation of important war supplies from the United States to Russia. The contemplated action embraced:

1—A congressional act proclaiming absolute opposition to such shipments.

2—A resolution proclaiming a state of war exists between Germany and Russia.

The latter plan is designed to bring into effect provisions of the Neutrality Act which forbids American vessels to travel into war zones. Yesterday the State Department announced President Roosevelt does not plan officially to recognize the new war, thus leaving American ships free to transport goods to Russian ports.

Simultaneously, an International News Service staff correspondent who has just left Soviet Russia disclosed the desperate efforts of Josef Stalin to avoid war with Germany and his realization as long ago as May 6 that hostilities were inevitable.

Now, with Stalin's fears realized, and war raging along the entire eastern front, German authorities claimed that Hitler's legions have swept the Soviet army far back from its border defenses and that the Luftwaffe holds air supremacy over the battle ground.

Like "40-Day Flood" The Nazi blitz forces were declared to be pushing eastward against the Reds on a scale "as vast as the 40-day flood."

Moscow, however, said the main German drive against the Ukraine has been halted and the Russian defenses on the eastern bank of the Pruth River are holding up against terrific German and Romanian pressure.

Seventy-six German planes were declared to have been shot down yesterday, while Red air force losses were put at 17 machines.

In Tokyo the government was still wondering what Japan should do about the Russo-German conflict. The cabinet and the high command held another joint meeting to consider "important questions confronting Japan."

London fighter planes this morning maintained a continuous and huge patrol of the channel and the invasion coast after RAF bombers during the night hammered the German port of Bremen and the naval base at Kiel. German planes dropped a few bombs on the southeast coast of England and northeast coast of Scotland.

Berlin said Stuka dive-bombers sank a British heavy cruiser, a light cruiser and a tanker at the Libyan port of Tobruk Tuesday. The German high command also announced German submarines had sunk eight merchant ships totalling 48,000 tons in the North Atlantic.

ROTARIANS HEAR STORY OF VISIT TO BOYS' STATE

What they did at Boys' State was discussed by William Burget and Robert Moon, local delegates, at the Rotary luncheon in the American Hotel luncheon, Thursday.

The boys, sent to Boys' State by the Rotary Club and the American Legion, were among the 800 boys from all over Ohio who attended the ten-day school at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in Columbus, where they were taught functions of state, city and county government.

William Burget served as Safety Director of Bricker City while at Boys' State. He discussed the work of the city governments carried on at the camp and emphasized the training received by the boys in citizenship and discipline. While at Boys' State he was on the staff of the "Buckeye," Boys' State newspaper.

Robert Moon told Rotarians of the legislative procedure at Boys' State. He was a representative to the Boys' State legislature which considered 60 bills for the operation of the camp. As a part of the program he was taken with other members of Boys' State legislature to the Ohio General Assembly building where he occupied the seat of Representative William D. Radcliff. He was chosen to be Boys' State Assemblyman by the Federalist ticket.

Harry Heffner, new president of the Rotary Club, took over the gavel from Retiring President Frank Barnhill with the beginning of a new Rotary year. During the last year the club had an average attendance of 91.35 percent. Karl Herrmann was in charge of the program Thursday.

TAX VALUES CHECKED

Pickaway County's Board of Revision, checking tax valuations in the county, is expected to complete its work Thursday, opening the way for posting the 1941 tax duplicate. The board includes Auditor Forrest Short, Treasurer Robert Colville and John Keller, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

A. F. L. SHIPYARD WORKERS BEGIN DUTIES MONDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26—San Francisco AFL shipyard machinists today voted to end their strike and return to work Monday in shipyards where $665,000,000 worth of vital work on warships and cargo vessels has been delayed seven weeks.

Results of the AFL membership vote were not disclosed but the margin to terminate the stubbornly fought strike was officially stated to have been 5 to 1.

CIO machinists, on strike in East Bay yards, will hold a membership meeting tonight, since the moves of AFL and CIO machinists have been coordinated, it was expected that the CIO machinists would follow the move of the AFL.

The strike came at a time when 11 shipyards and ship repair plants affected by the walkout were engaged in building new navy warships and Maritime Commission cargo vessels.

It was called May 10 by 1,200 AFL machinists in San Francisco and 500 CIO machinists in the East Bay. During the intervening weeks the strikers ignored back-to-work pleas by President Roosevelt, a congressional committee, the United States Navy and by Harvey Brown, international president of the AFL Machinists' Union.

The union lost its demands for a three cent hourly wage increase and double time for overtime, but won a major concession when the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company signed the coastwide master shipyard agreement, which entails the closed shop. Bethlehem always had maintained an open shop and had refused to be a party to the master agreement ratified by other companies.

The master agreement provides for $1.12 an hour basic pay, with time and one half for overtime. The machinists walked out when they were refused demands for $1.15 an hour and double time for overtime.

The Twelfth Naval District headquarters was in the midst of a campaign to end the strike by recruiting machinists and granting them civil service ratings when the machinists voted on their back-to-work proposal.

MRS. CLARA BOWSHER DIES AT RESIDENCE OF NIECE

Mrs. Clara Bowshe, 78, a native of Monroe Township and a resident of Circleville for many years, died Thursday at 1:12 a. m. at the home of her niece, Mrs. Fred Baird, Deerbrook Township. Mrs. Bowshe, whose home was at 532 East Mound Street, had been ill two weeks of complications.

She was born August 30, 1862, a daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Terlinger Strevey. She was twice married, first to John Stevenson and second to John H. Bowshe, both of whom are deceased. A brother, Marion Strevey, East High Street, survives.

An analysis of the water in any of the streams in the county undoubtedly would show typhoid and other intestinal germs, Dr. Blackburn said. The germs enter the body when the swimmer swallows or breathes in water and do not enter through the skin.

Stagnate pools or partially dried creeks may contain more pollution than running streams, although this is not always the case, the doctor said.

Damascus Raided

JERUSALEM—A death toll of more than 30 was counted in Damascus, the capital of Syria, today after German planes raided the ancient city, according to press dispatches to Jerusalem. Damascus was captured by British and Free French forces several days ago. The reports said that many persons were injured. Four hundred bombs were said to have fallen in the heavily populated Babtown quarter and in the vicinity of the Omayyad Mosque and the tomb of Saladin.

No Red Alliance

LONDON—The London Daily Sketch said today that there will be no formal alliance between Britain and Soviet Russia but that the new diplomatic term "cooperator" will be used to cover Anglo-Russian relations. The paper said Russia will declare adherence to terms of war aims at a conference with Britain and the refugee governments of German-occupied countries in London June 12.

Drive Into Syria

LONDON—Military authorities in London declared today that British forces in Syria have advanced 10 or 12 miles along the Damascus-Beirut road in a westward drive to capture the ancient and strategically important Lebanese port.

Supply Ship Sunk

NEW YORK—The British radio in a broadcast heard by NBC today reported the sinking of another of the supply ships formerly attached to the sunken German battleship Bismarck, which was sent to the bottom after it destroyed the British battle cruiser Hood. The radio broadcast said the supply vessel, the 9,000-ton steamer Elba, was sunk 900 miles northwest of the Cape Verde Islands. The eighth Bismarck supply ship so far sunk, the Elba was reported to be operating as a commerce raider.

VICHY—Admiral Abrial, governor of Algier, arrived in Vichy today to discuss the situation there with the French government.

NEW YORK—An Australian radio broadcast picked up in New York by CBS said today that Australian staff officers in Syria expect a Vichy request for an armistice in the near future.

JERRY HICKEY DIES IN AKRON AT AGE OF 60

Jerry Hickey, 60, died of tuberculosis Wednesday in Akron where he had lived for the last 40 years. He was a son of John and Minnie Hickey and had spent his early life in Circleville.

Survivors include his widow, Kathryn Dumm Hickey, also a former Circleville resident; a daughter, Mrs. Karl Gordon of Akron; five brothers, John of Akron and Patrick, William, Thomas and Joseph of Circleville, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Johnson of St. Louis and Mrs. Margaret Van Camp of Sidney, Australia.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in Akron.

HEALTH OFFICER SAYS STREAMS ARE POLLUTED

All streams in the county are polluted and persons who swim in them are subjecting themselves to typhoid fever germs, according to County Health Commissioner A. D. Blackburn.

The health commissioner remarked, however, that considering the number who do swim in polluted streams and never contract disease, the situation is not particularly alarming.

An analysis of the water in any of the streams in the county undoubtedly would show typhoid and other intestinal germs, Dr. Blackburn said. The germs enter the body when the swimmer swallows or breathes in water and do not enter through the skin.

Stagnate pools or partially dried creeks may contain more pollution than running streams, although this is not always the case, the doctor said.

AUTO INDUSTRY HAS MAJOR ROLE

General Motors—Machine guns, Pratt and Whitney airplane engines, Diesel engines, tank engines, naval ordnance, secret experimental work in five plants, bomber parts, shells, trucks, Allison aircraft engines.

Chrysler—Thousands of cars and trucks for the army, completion and production of a huge tank arsenal, forgings for bombers, anti-aircraft guns, planning 2,000-horsepower aircraft engine, several educational orders for airplane parts.

Train Men

That's the picture, briefly, of the way the "Big Three" in the automobile field are doing their part in national defense. But while "more and more" is the cry, these companies have not forgotten another important part of the national defense picture—the training of men.

Chrysler is starting construction of a new three-story building for the exclusive use of the Chrysler Institute of Engineering, where students will be trained in automotive engineering and allied fields. This new building will have 15 classrooms, a large assembly room, three chemical laboratories and physical, mechanical and metallurgical laboratories.

The service division of General Motors Truck and Coach will give specialized factory training in army truck service and maintenance to approximately 1,000 commissioned officers of the United States Army.

Ford is setting up an aircraft apprentice school, equipped to train 2,000 students at one time, in its new airplane engine plant. Also, 120 officers a month from army posts all over the United States will be instructed in the operation and maintenance of Ford-built military equipment at classes. This in addition to the complete United States navy service school set up at the Rouge plant, where 1,000 sailor recruits are being trained in mechanical trades. And Ford is training women volunteers in automobile mechanics with the help of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Other Companies, Too Meantime, other automobile companies are taking on defense work. The Hudson Motor Car company is building a gigantic naval ordnance factory and is working on airplane parts. Packard has millions of dollars in orders for Rolls-Royce airplane engines. Thousands of trailers are being made by the Fruehauf Trailer company. Fisher Body will make bomber parts and sub-assemblies. Torpedo boats are going down the ways at Michigan's Fisher Body works. Continental Motors has millions in orders for aircraft engines.

And so it goes. Millions upon millions of dollars in defense orders, but the story can only be partly told. What has started out as mere "letters of intent" from the companies to the government has developed into orders, grown into buildings, trickled into our armed forces, and those of Great Britain, and soon—very soon—this trickle will mushroom into a steady and overflowing stream of production.

YANKEES MOVE INTO TOP SPOT; INDIANS FALL

DiMaggio Continues Long Streak; Grove, Rigney in Yeoman Work

CARDS, DODGERS VICTORS

Chicago White Sox Pull Triple Steal To Aid Johnny Rigney

By Pat Robinson
NEW YORK, June 26—We had intended saying a few kind words about Lefty Grove and his 298th Major League victory today.

We also had in mind a few nice remarks about Monty Pearson's grand comeback; about Johnny Rigney's 13-inning shutout and about one Bill Harman, an astonishing rookie who shows up as a catcher for the Phils in the first half of a twin bill and as a pitcher in the second half and does equally well in both spots.

You see the fact is we'd grown tired of writing about Joe DiMaggio and the rest of the Yanks and so we had intended giving them a quick brush-off.

But the trouble with Joe and the rest of the Yanks is that they simply won't be ignored. And how are you going to overlook an outfit that has doggedly battled their way into first place as have the Yanks today.

Now 37 in Row

And how can we fail to mention that Joe kept both his own and the Yankee streak alive by belting his 16th homer? It simply can't be done and so we are forced to remind you that Joe has now hit in 37 consecutive games—with only four to go to tie the record—and that the Yanks created another new record by getting 34 homers in a stretch of 20 straight games.

Oh, well, those are facts and if the Indians intend to stay close to the Yanks they'd better start pitching. Bob Feller about every other day.

The Yanks topped the Browns yesterday while old man Grove was subduing the Indians, 7 to 2. And he it noted that Cronin's crushers are very much in the pennant race.

Meanwhile the Athletics were giving a few lessons to Schoolboy Rowe to tame the Tigers, 5 to 4. And that brings us back to Rigney whom Uncle Sam turned down because of a bad ear.

Triple Steal Successful

Johnny hooked up with Sid Hudson of the Senators and they went 13 heats before Johnny came down in front, 2 to 0. Sid gave only three hits up to the fatal inning when two hits and a pass filled the bases. Then he walked the next hitter unintentionally and the Sox proceeded to stage one of the rarest plays in baseball—a successful triple steal.

The Cardinals clung to their precarious half game lead over the Dodgers by pounding the Braves again, 6-2, while the Dodgers once more were trimming the Pirates, 5 to 4.

Bill Lee had a bad first inning and the Giants shoved over three runs and went on to beat the Cubs, 4-1. And the hapless Phils dropped a pair to the Reds, 8-3 and 5-1.

Elmer Riddle, stylish young right hander, turned in his seventh straight win without a defeat for the Reds in the opener and Monte Pearson turned in a five-hitter in the nightcap, a great performance after his long spell on the sidelines.

It was in the first game that the aforementioned Harman made his debut as a catcher and late in the second game he showed up as a pitcher.

BARNES TO PUT SOFTBALL TEAM INTO NEW LOOP

Bobby Barnes, youthful athlete, is seeking to organize a softball team and obtain a backer to take the place of the State Highway Department outfit that failed to put in an appearance Wednesday evening for its first scheduled game in the Softball League.

Barnes expects to have his team ready for Friday evening when a game with the Blue Ribbon Dairy will be played.

A "scrub" game was played Wednesday in place of the scheduled contest between the Dairy and the Highway Department.

Thursday's contest will be between the Purina Chows and Circleville Lumber Co.

DiMaggio Nearing Sisler's Hit Mark

George Sisler... record holder.

NEW YORK, June 26—To one side, Rogers, and, George, kindly move over. And—while we're at it—you, too, Willie, might get ready to give the young fellow a bit of elbow room on your particular shelf in the hall of baseball fame.

At the moment the young fellow—he's one Joseph Paul DiMaggio of the San Francisco Di Maggios—already has passed one of your number in record number of consecutive games in which he has chalked up at least one safe hit. And now he's after the rest of you.

As of today the New York Yankee statesman has hit safely in 37 consecutive games.

That beats the modern National league champion, Rogers Hornsby, who went hitless after 33 happy days—from August 13 to September 19, 1922. Hornsby was then laboring in the colors of the St. Louis Cards.

And now Joe has set sail for

THREE WAY TIE FOR TOP PLACE IN A. A. PREVAILS

COLUMBUS, June 26—A virtual three-way tie for first place in the American Association arose to plague the loop statisticians today in the wake of victories by Kansas City and Louisville while Minneapolis was dropping a tilt to the rejuvenated Milwaukee Brewers.

Actually, Kansas City climbed into the driver's seat by edging St. Paul, 5 to 4, by staging a brilliant ninth-inning rally which netted the necessary three runs. Each side used four hurlers.

Minneapolis slipped from first spot but maintained a three-point bulge over Louisville for second despite a 7 to 5 loss to the Brewers, who thus won their first game for their new manager, Charlie Grimm. The Brewers jumped away to a four-run lead in the first three cantos and were never headed. The ladies night audience for the Brewer park, which has been accustomed to crowds of far less than 1,000, totaled 4,415 fans.

Louisville soundly thumped Columbus, 6 to 1, to occupy the third spot in the triumvirate. Manager Bill Burwell was chased from the park in the initial frame for protesting a decision on a called strike, but his charges seemed to do very well without him.

Oscar Judd, a former Red Bird now doing hurling chores for the Colonels, allowed his former mates only eight scattered bingles in turning in the best pitching performance of the day.

The Toledo Mudhens fattened their batting averages at the expense of a trio of alleged Indianapolis hurlers, clouting 16 bingles for a 13 to 3 decision.

HOGAN INITIAL ARRIVAL AT DENVER PGA SCENE

DENVER, June 26—Blazin' Ben Hogan, the crack golfer from Texas, popped up today in Denver—the first on hand for the 1941 P.G.A. National Tournament which will start on July 7 with 117 of the nation's top-notch pros entered.

Hogan strolled over the famed Cherry Hills course with the home pro, Rip Arnold, and decided that the 71-par links was in top condition. He didn't bring along his bag of clubs, saying he was going fishing in the Rockies until a few days before the tournament starts.

Hogan, the year's leading money winner among the pros, will be presented the Vardon Trophy at Cherry Hills for his 1940 performances.

TY COBB DEFEATS RUTH IN CHARITY GOLF EVENT

NEWTON, Mass., June 26—Ol' Ty Cobb may or may not have been a greater baseball player than Babe Ruth, but one thing was certain today. Ol' Ty is a more consistent golfer.

To prove it, Ty held possession of the silver trophy put up by Film Star Bette Davis. And in Ty's own words "I've got something to hand down to my grand children. I beat Babe Ruth at golf."

Tyrus beat Ruth 3 and 2 at the Commonwealth Country Club in a match for charity arranged by the New England Left Handed Golfers Association.

HANK HAS CONCUSSION

CHICAGO, June 26—Hank Leiber, Chicago Cubs outfielder, was said to be progressing favorably today at Illinois Masonic Hospital, where he is under treatment for a slight concussion suffered for a slight concussion suffered in the Cubs-Giants game Tuesday when he was accidentally "beamed" by Pitcher Cliff Melton. Doctors said x-rays showed conclusively that Leiber had sustained no fracture.

RIDDLE, MONTE PEARSON STAR

Redlegs Take Two Games From Philadelphia, Start West

CINCINNATI, June 26—When Cincinnati Redlegs fans think of their team's excellent hurling—and it has been excellent, despite the poor showing of the squad to date this season they usually picture a Derringer, Walters, Thompson, Beggs or Moore on the mound.

But Bill McKechnie has another pair of aces up his sleeve, and he played them yesterday to take a pair of tilts from the Philadelphia Phillies, 8 to 3 and 5 to 1.

The gentlemen's names are Elmer Riddle, who chalked up his seventh victory without defeat in the opener by scattering 11 bingles, and Monte Pearson, who turned in a five-hit performance in the nightcap.

Pearson had a shutout going into the final frame, but relaxed enough to allow the Phillies to slip over a counter when Danny Litwhiler swung on a fast one for four bases.

The Reds take off on a western swing today, stopping off at Kansas City for an exhibition game under the lights with the American Association outfit. Friday the Reds will open a four-game series against the St. Louis Cardinals at Sportsman's park.

DODGERS NEAR MILLION IN PAID ADMISSIONS

NEW YORK, June 26—Home from their very successful road trip, the Brooklyn Dodgers today were nearing the 1,000,000 mark for paid admissions this season.

The league's best drawing card, the Dodgers have attracted 493,620 in 30 games at Ebbets Field and 459,992 in 35 games on the road.

STANFORD STARS MAY TEST EACH OTHER IN JOUST

COLUMBUS, June 26—Although it was Stanford University against the field today in the 44th annual National Collegiate golf tournament, Eddie Twiggs, veteran Stanford golf coach, moaned loud and long. True, he had four boys among the 16 remaining in match play—but all are in the same bracket.

The lovable Twiggs, immaculate in his white sports suit, complained bitterly, "Here, I've got four of the greatest undergraduate golfers in the country and they'll have to play each other in the quarter-finals. That's not right."

Despite Twiggs' optimism about getting his four swingers into the quarter-finals for their individual scalping party, the competition in the collegiate meet for the Indians was expected to reach a torrid pitch today as the last 16 tee off in two more rounds of match play.

Here's today's third round schedule:

Marshall Carlson, University of Toledo, vs. Warren Berl, Stanford.

A. C. Williams, Yale, vs. Ray Brownell, Stanford.

Alex Welsh, Illinois, vs. Dee Replogle, Stanford.

Dan Carmichael, Jr., Princeton, vs. Charles Finger, Stanford.

F. Dixon Brooke, Virginia, the defending champion, vs. William Zylstra, Michigan State.

Otto Greiner, Baltimore, vs. Richard Wolfley, Illinois.

E. K. Gravely, Yale, vs. Earl Stewart, Louisiana State.

Robert Brownell, Duke, vs. Cary Middlecoff, Mississippi.

The collegians will play the 18-hole match play rounds today with the four semi-finalists clashing Friday in 36-hole matches. The finals on Saturday will also be over the 36-hole route.

GREAT SPEECH

AMERICANS and Britons of this generation have probably heard no more powerful and eloquent speech than the one delivered by Winston Churchill last Sunday to a world audience. People who did not hear it or read it might do themselves a service by turning back and reading it now. It may be in the school readers of the future, as an oratorical masterpiece. It will probably be in the histories when they set about preserving the highlights of this tragic era.

Churchill, always literary and magnetic, had a theme worthy of his powers. He rose to notable heights in denouncing Germany's attack on her Russian ally, as another bold step toward mastery of the world. For a historic parallel it would be interesting to turn back to the famous Philippics delivered by the Greek orator Demosthenes about 23 centuries ago in Athens, against Philip of Macedon, who was then setting about to conquer the world as Hitler is doing now.

PATRIOTIC JAMS

WE Americans being what we are, there is probably something to the National Safety Council's prediction that the Fourth of July, now coming at us endwise, will bring the biggest traffic jam in American history.

But one part of that prediction is probably wrong. The Council says there will be more than 30,000,000 cars on the road. We can't quite believe that 30,000,000 Americans are that dumb.

Of course we ourselves will have to do a bit of driving. You know how it is on the Fourth, visiting relatives and going on picnics and so on. And it's hard to realize just how it's going to be on the highways along toward evening of the Fourth until you get caught in a traffic jam a couple of miles long. But surely a lot of us with good enough memories to recall how it has been on former Fourth will stay at home this time and be comfortable.

Still, there's something about the Glorious Fourth that makes it hard to be sensible. And then there's some satisfaction in telling next day about the unprecedented traffic jam. And to tell the truth, there are some special reasons this year for getting out and celebrating our Day of Freedom, no matter how we suffer for it. We're still free, and we still have the cars and the gas and the picnic lunch baskets

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

CLOSE PALS AS ENVOYS

WASHINGTON — The Russo-German war has brought more than ever to the forefront two young diplomats who represent the two belligerents, Ambassador Constantin Oumansky of Russia and Charge d'Affaires Hans Thomsen of Germany.

Both are about the same age, in their early forties, both are extremely able, both play an extremely different role, and neither circulates very much in Washington society.

Thomsen, born of a Norwegian mother and married to a Hungarian wife, sometimes is suspected of anti-Hitler leanings. This suspicion has been increased by his wife's unexplained dislike for Hitler. Frau Thomsen has declared that she would not go back to Germany if her husband is recalled, as long as Hitler is in power.

Actually, however, Thomsen is a loyal Nazi and a close friend of Hitler's. He happened to be in the Foreign Office when Hitler first came into power, and served for some time as Liaison officer between the new Chancellor and the Foreign Office. Quite a bond of friendship grew up between them.

Likewise, Ambassador Oumansky is close personally to the dictator of his country, Josef Stalin. Oumansky once was chief of the press bureau in Moscow, in other words, chief censor, and came into close contact with Stalin.

Oumansky and his wife are great students of American life and politics, and know this country as well or better than most diplomats. They have not circulated socially since Russia made her ill-fated alliance with Hitler in 1939, but the Soviet receptions once were famous for caviar, vodka and rich viands rivaling anything given during the ornate days of the Czar.

OUMANSKY AND HULL

Oumansky has had frequent contact with the State Department, especially last summer and fall, when Sumner Welles was trying to work out an agreement by which Russia might be weaned away from the Axis and aid the United States in case of trouble with Japan. It was tough diplomatic negotiating, first because Oumansky was having trouble with pro-Axis Stalin; second because Welles was having trouble with his anti-Soviet chief, Secretary Hull.

Despite his knowledge of American politics, Ambassador Oumansky made one of the prize remarks of recent diplomatic history one day when he complained: "The only person I see when I go to the State Department is Sumner Welles. I think a nation of the importance of Russia should have its ambassador received by the Secretary of State himself."

Ambassador Oumansky did not know it, but the chief reason Hull did not see him (though he did later on one or two occasions) was that he was too busy.

Bleaches Can Be Used for Removing Freckles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Before long the question which supersedes questions of state and international geography will be coming to my desk: "How to prevent freckles?"

There is a kind of psychological aspect to freckles; sometimes they are cute, and sometimes they are a curse. Under the age of six they are cute. Later they are likely to be objectionable.

Everything about freckles is easy to explain except why they exist. The dermatologist tells us they are tiny blotches of tan. They are just like ordinary sun tan or tanning of the skin in other people, but in blondes and red heads the pigment spots turn especially dark and stand out and are separated from the rest of the skin by white areas or oceans of white.

Removing Freckles
The dermatologist also tells us that freckles usually stay with a person for a long time, sometimes permanently. What the dermatologist does not tell us is why some people should freckle and some people should tan. All we know is that the blondes and red heads seem to have a dearth of spots instead of being evenly distributed.

Getting rid of freckles is also not quite as easy as it sounds. The pigment lies deep in the skin and on the surface. The most we can do is to bleach or perhaps remove the upper layer of the skin. Be careful that you do not use a preparation which contains mercury. Mercury is effective but dangerous.

Ordinary hydrogen peroxide is helpful when it is full strength and fresh. It works through the action of oxygen as a bleaching agent. Lemon juice is also good. The following additional formulae may be used:

Formula No. 1 (Cream)
Peroxide of hydrogen 24 parts
Glycerin 24 parts
Lanolin (anhydrous) 100 parts
Mix by emulsification. Apply to freckled area whenever you can.

Formula No. 2 (Lotion)
Potassium carbonate 4 parts
Potassium chlorate 1 part
Borax 1 part
Glycerin 10 parts
Water to make 100 parts
Apply at night and whenever feasible.

Formula No. 3 (Lotion)
Glycerin 16 parts
Alcohol 16 parts
Lemon juice to make 100 parts
Mix well. Apply as often as three times a day.

Formula No. 4 (Paste) Freckle Preventive
Quinine Sulfate 1 part
Petroleum (white) 60 parts
Applied to exposed areas before going in sun may prevent freckles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
M. A. Z.: "Is it true that from taking the so-called needle shots in your arm for low or high blood pressure that in time it will produce cancer?"

Answer—Nobody knows the cause of cancer but it is definitely known that this is not one of the causes of cancer.

H. L. R., McKeesport, Pa.—"Are injections for rupture successful? Have been wearing a truss for years which makes me sore and uncomfortable."

Answer: Injections for rupture are successful in some cases and operation is successful in others. The description of your condition would seem to suggest to me that I would try anything for relief.

A. G., Bellevue, Ohio—"Could such a symptom as dull, aching pain in the chest, coming on after strain, fatigue or excitement, in a person with a positive tuberculin reaction mean tuberculosis? What proportion of adults have a positive tuberculin reaction?"

Answer: A positive tuberculin reaction in an adult has no significance. Nine-tenths of all adults have a positive tuberculin reaction. Your symptoms suggest heart strain rather than tuberculosis. Tuberculosis seldom produces a chest pain.

O. C. J.:—"Can gall stones be cured without an operation?"

Answer—Gall stones are never cured without operation in the sense that they are dissolved or disappear, but they frequently become quiescent and do no harm for twenty or thirty years.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Looking Back in Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Sterling Christy, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Christy, Amanda, was appointed to enter the naval academy at Annapolis June 29.

Mrs. John F. Carle returned after a 10-day visit with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Washburn of Chicago, Ill. While there she accompanied them on a motor trip to Oshkosh and the Wisconsin Dells.

Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Valentine, Washington Township, left for Cedar Point to attend a meeting of the Ohio State Association of Township Trustees and Clerks. They also planned to attend the opening of the Great Lakes Exposition at Cleveland.

10 YEARS AGO

Forty-two lady members of the Pickaway Country Club attended a luncheon at the club house, nine tables of bridge progressing during the afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Umstead left for Toledo to sing at the wedding of Miss Louise Kuhlman, a former Circleville High School teacher, to Mr. V. C. McWilliams which was to take place in St. Mark's Lutheran Church.

Miss Helen Angler and Mr. Thurman See, both of Mt. Sterling, were married at the home of the officiating minister, Dr. Franklin McElfresh, of the Methodist Church.

25 YEARS AGO

Brigham Young, Mormon leader, had 56 children, and a biographer says, "there were no lame, deformed or blind children among them."

CHAPTER THIRTY
HANS' EYES popped wide as he faced the two who entered the model railroaders' headquarters. "What be you doing here?" he asked.

"I'll ask you the same thing," said Henry quickly. "Puzzlement was added to surprise on the big Swede's face. 'But Ay be member of club. Why shouldn't Ay be here?'"

"I'll tell you why you're here!" exclaimed Richard. "You're the man who ran away from this building a minute ago. You came back to make it look like you're innocent! But you're out of breath because you've been running. And you're all muddled!"

"Why—Ay—Ay—" "Richard!" his father warned. "Don't be hasty! Just because I said . . ."

"Ay don't understand. What man run away? And what be you doing here?" Hans repeated.

"The murderer of John Ives and of Professor Bisbee ran away, that's who!" the boy told him. "And we're here because we've been trying to catch him—you!"

"Richard!" Henry apologized. "The boy doesn't realize what he's saying. But how did you get so wet, Hans?"

Hans looked more and more surprised and bewildered. "It is raining. Don't you know it? Ay could not get car tonight. Ay hurry from village, on foot."

"And you didn't see anyone running away from here?" Hans shook his head.

"He was headed across the field, westward. Maybe he didn't turn toward the road."

"Some crook maybe. Some robber?" Hans seemed alarmed. "He didn't steal any of the trains?"

Henry shrugged his shoulders. "We don't know any more about him than you do—except that I almost recognized him. I felt sure—"

Laurence came in from his unsuccessful watch at the rear of the lodge. He knocked water from his hat in the doorway. "Oh, there you are, Hans! We've had a little excitement while I was waiting for you."

Richard's eyes widened at Laurence's words. "You expected Hans? Then it couldn't have been . . ."

Laurence grinned. "No, it couldn't have been Hans who frightened you, if that's what you mean. The Hans wouldn't have needed to run away. He and I had an appointment to work on the trains here tonight."

Henry stammered. "D-doesn't it seem a little too soon after Ives' death to be playing with trains again?"

Laurence nodded. "Perhaps. But model railroading is a disease. You can't just forget about it." He smiled slightly. "And none of us feels too broken hearted over the death of Ives—if you don't mind my saying so."

"Oh—it's not that. I've heard he wasn't a pleasant man to have around. You had some trouble with him, I've been told, over one of the—ah—friendships you formed at the club?"

Consternation crossed the face of the young farmer for a fleeting instant. He did his best to conceal it. "You've been misinformed. I didn't get along any worse with him than the other members did."

"We don't have to be for fun tonight," Hans declared.

"Hans and I are here as investigators, as railroad fans, Laurence explained. "We aren't satisfied with the police theory of the crime."

"You have a theory of your own?"

"Not exactly. We admit Ives was shot by one of the persons here Wednesday night, but we don't think the police are looking for him in the right way. They've already quit searching this room. We say the secret to the murder must be right here!"

"You mean a hidden entrance to the room where he was killed?" "That was my first idea."

"But not mine," said Hans. "I'm convinced now there can't be any way into that room except through the regular doorway. We're still going to investigate Hans' idea that a gun might have been controlled electrically, and pulled out of the room by a string after it went off."

"Or carried out on one of the trains!" Richard suggested.

Hans nodded. "We think of that, too, but no trains go into that room."

Laurence agreed. "That's a little too fantastic. But we do think the killer in some way took advantage of the peculiar setting, and the equipment here. Somewhere in this miniature world is the answer!"

"It's a good theory," Henry admitted. "I think, though, that the police must have gone over everything expertly, because the same ment to work on the trains here tonight."

Henry stammered. "D-doesn't it seem a little too soon after Ives' death to be playing with trains again?"

"It's a good theory," Henry admitted. "I think, though, that the police must have gone over everything expertly, because the same theory would occur to them."

"Expertly my eye!" exclaimed Laurence. "What do the police know about operation of miniature trains?"

"Probably not much. You think your special knowledge may help you discover something the police overlooked?"

"That's our hope."

"But how can either of you be sure that the other is not the murderer, trying to destroy evidence rather than uncover it?"

Laurence flushed. "Good Lord, Henry Potter! Why don't you come right out and say it? Which one of us do you think killed Ives—and Bisbee?"

"I'm not accusing either of you. You have just as much right to suspect me. What I'm trying to say is that no member of the model railroad club can be sure of anyone but himself."

Laurence looked at Hans. Hans looked at Laurence. "By golly, you be right!" Hans said.

The face of Laurence Harkness paled, then reddened again. "You're destroying our confidence in each other."

"It should be destroyed," Henry insisted. "If we put any man—or woman—above suspicion, we may be helping the murderer."

"Keep the women out of it," Laurence told him. "You've got no right to cast reflections on a lovely girl like Susan Baker!"

"Oh, so it is true?"

"What's true?"

"Never mind!" Henry turned to his son. "Richard, I think it's time you and I started for home. You've got to be up early for school."

"Tomorrow's Saturday."

Henry frowned. "So it is—but that doesn't mean you can stay in bed any later than usual."

"Aw, gee! Can't I see the trains run again? You promised . . ."

Laurence looked at Henry coldly. "So that's why you came here tonight? You came to play with the trains. And after that remark you made to us . . ."

"It wasn't my doing," explained Henry hastily. "If you had a 15-year-old son you'd know how it was!"

Hans laughed. "By golly! You like our trains! Ay knew you would!"

"Nothing of the kind!" Henry denied angrily. Nevertheless, he felt a guilty flush on his face as he went out the door.

For Thursday, June 26

A PARTICULARLY lively day, with much stirring of a thrilling and surprising character materializing in both the private and business life. There should be quite unforeseen profit as well as pleasure, with all affairs moving under unusually high pressure and constructively. However this tension if carried to excess may result in some features born of enmity or jealousy. But generally there is stability, with increased possessions and finances, enhanced popularity in business as well as social prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of much initiative and tension, with much enterprise and energy resulting in unexpected profits and productivity. Increased real possessions as well as finances are to be the reward for aggressive and well-directed attack, but this should not be carried to excess as there are hints of jealousy and enmity. Be guided by the intuitions and aspirations as well as logic, and this warning, expanding and happy influence will pervade the social, romantic and domestic life also.

A child born on this day while being temperamental, aggressive and high powered in action may also have deep and constructive understanding of its affairs, which should thrive and bring riches as well as pleasure in life.

Housewarming Held For Bride in Her New Home

Mrs. Sterley Croman Plans Event Held Wednesday

Mrs. Sterley Croman of Washington Township honored her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Forrest Croman, at a delightful party Wednesday. The affair was arranged as a housewarming and was held at the new home on the Croman farm of the young Mr. and Mrs. Croman who were married last November. Mrs. Croman has just been graduated from Ohio State University.

During the surprise miscellaneous shower arranged for the guests, the bride received many lovely gifts.

Tea was served in the dining room, a beautiful arrangement of June roses centering the table where Miss Virginia McCord and Miss Ruth Kerr presided.

The guests included Mrs. John Bolender and Mrs. Mae Groce of Circleville; Mrs. Carl Gearhart, Clarksburg; Mrs. Shirley Gearhart and mother, Mrs. Ekstein, of Kingston; Mrs. Chauncey McCord, Miss Helen McCord, Miss Virginia McCord, Ashville; Miss Kerr, Rio Grand; Mrs. Robert McCoy, Mrs. LeRoy May, Mrs. Walter Richards, Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Mrs. James Lovett, Mrs. A. M. Bosworth, Mrs. Russell Palm, Mrs. Elmon Richards, Mrs. Hazel Bowman, Mrs. Guy Stockman, Mrs. M. M. Bowman, Mrs. Howard Leist, Mrs. Creation Kraft, Mrs. Turney Kraft, Mrs. Earl Klingensmith, Mrs. George Goodchild, Mrs. George Mannon, Mrs. Floy Brobst, Mrs. M. J. Valentine, Mrs. Marvin Steele, Miss Hulda Leist, Miss Ethyl May, Miss Cora Beougher, Miss Edwina Holderman of Washington Township and Miss Mary Shortridge, Jackson Township.

Church of Brethren Aid

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. Gene Davis. Thirteen members and one visitor were present. Two new members were received.

After the devotional and business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Holbrook and Mrs. Kenneth Dagon.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Hall, South Scioto Street.

Birthday Party

Mrs. Samuel Dearth of Pickaway Township entertained at a birthday surprise party in honor of her daughter, Carolyn, who was 13 Wednesday, June 25. Games and contests occupied the guests during the gay afternoon.

Carolyn received many gifts from her friends. Mrs. Dearth served lunch at the close of the party.

The guests included Mary Penn, Rita Rhoads, Nancy McGinnis, June Hildenbrand, Patty Wolfe, Margaret Rolland, Bonnie Dearth, Mrs. John Dearth and Mrs. A. H. Shasteen.

Logan Elm Grange

Logan Elm Grange will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway Township School auditorium.

Piano Recital

More than 200 guests from Circleville and Pickaway County attended the annual piano recital of pupils of Mrs. Leon Van Vleet Tuesday and Wednesday at her home studio, West High Street, and were greatly impressed by the work of the young players. Children from the primary, junior and senior classes were presented in three periods, the first, Tuesday at 8 p. m., the other two, Wednesday at 3 and 8 p. m.

The junior pupils, assisted by a few of the older students, were presented Tuesday evening and showed great poise as they played the various well chosen selections, several playing entirely from memory. The remarkable progress of this group during the last year of study was noted in the greater ease of manner and their improving technique.

Pupils from four through high school age were heard in the Wednesday afternoon recital, a unique feature of the program being the numbers in which mothers played with their children. Mrs. V. D. Kerns played a trio with her small daughter, Donna Jean, and her son, Eugene; Mrs. Robert Wilkin-son, a duet with her daughter, Joan, and Mrs. Herschel Hill, with her daughter, Theresa.

The climax of the recital was the senior group program Wednesday which was a real treat from the first solo by Miss Eleanor Bumgarner to the closing two-piano sextet by boy players including Clifford Kerns, James Hill, Robert McCoy, Glenn McCoy, Robert Porter and Ned Barthelmas. They displayed remarkable steadiness and showed excellent training in their presentation of their selection, "Lucia Di Lammermoor," by Paganotti.

Another sextet number, "Semi-ramide Di Rossini," Fasanotti, was heard with Mrs. Paul Thompson, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Harriet Heffner, Miss Mary Ruth Noggle, Miss Polly Jane Kerns and Miss Mary Catherine Stein at the two pianos.

Miss Louise Thomas, of Jackson Township, offered two vocal solos, "Savior Divine," Norman, and "God Bless America," Berlin.

Miss Harriet Heffner received well deserved applause with her group of numbers including "Dance Hmongroise," Du Val, which she played as a solo; "Waltz in A-flat," Brahms, which she and Mrs. Van Vleet played in unison on two pianos, and her piano duo, "Country Gardens," Grainger, played with Mrs. Van Vleet at the second piano.

Neil Louise Burgarner, an eighth grade pupil of Jackson Township school, who appeared in the three periods of the recital, proved herself a versatile young player from the variety of her selections and showed thorough preparation in her excellent playing from memory.

Mrs. Van Vleet's home was banked with a profusion garden flowers and June roses for the three delightful affairs.

Elks' Picnic

About 300 persons including Elks, their wives and lady guests gathered at Gold Cliff Park Wednesday and enjoyed the hospitality of the Circleville B.P.O. Elks at a delightful outing.

An excellent picnic supper was served at 6:30 p. m. with hot roast beef as the main dish. Places were found at tables under the lovely trees of the park for the supper hour.

Jimmy Carpenter and Clarence Ater were assisted in preparing and serving the bountiful meal by David Dunlap, William Crist and George Myers.

Swimming, roller skating, cards and various other games occupied the guests during the afternoon and evening.

SLASH IN WPA EXPENDITURES TO BE SUBJECT OF JULY 3 CONFAB

RELIEF OFFICE MAY FACE HUGE CUT IN FUNDS

Sewing, Road Projects May Feel Heaviest Burden, Marcy Hints

AID COST MUCH LOWER

State-Wide Reduction Of 40 Percent Ordered Under New Program

Cuts in WPA appropriations for Pickaway County soon after July 1 were seen by local relief authorities, Thursday, when they received a letter from the state WPA office informing them that a state representative would meet with the county commissioners, the county welfare director and the county engineer, to discuss the reduction on WPA quotas. The meeting was set for July 3.

D. E. Matheny, district director of operations, from whom the letter was received, gave local relief authorities no indication of what the county reduction would be, but Relief Director Delos Marcy said he believed the county reduction would run considerably under the 40 percent reduction proposed for the state as a whole.

National defense projects are expected to be exempt from the reduction, although the county has few projects which could be considered as such. Possibilities are that the national defense training schools, one in Circleville and one at Perry Township school, will not be affected by the cut. The recreation centers also may be exempt, Relief Director Marcy said.

To Hurt Sewing Center

The slice in WPA appropriations will cripple the sewing center and the county road projects the worst, local officials believe. At present about 200 WPA clients are working on road construction projects in the county. Williamsport Road Number 117 in Deer Creek and Perry Townships is furnishing work for 100 men. The work consists of widening, grading and resurfacing about 3½ miles of the road and the widening and improving of bridges and culverts.

Madison Township Road Number 8, 3.3 miles of grading and resurfacing work, is holding 100 WPA men, and the Turkey Run bridge project in Walnut Township about 25 men. The Turkey Run project is nearly completed, County Engineer Henry McCrady said. When work on the bridge is finished the 25 men will be transferred to one of the other two projects. The projects in Deer Creek and Madison Townships are expected to keep men employed for another three months.

One of the chief purposes of the WPA slash is to encourage men now on WPA roles to seek private employment in industry promoting defense production, Director Marcy said. The number on WPA in the county has shown a marked reduction in the last several months. At the same time county relief costs have been cut almost in half of what they were last year, an indication that more men are being privately employed than in 1940.

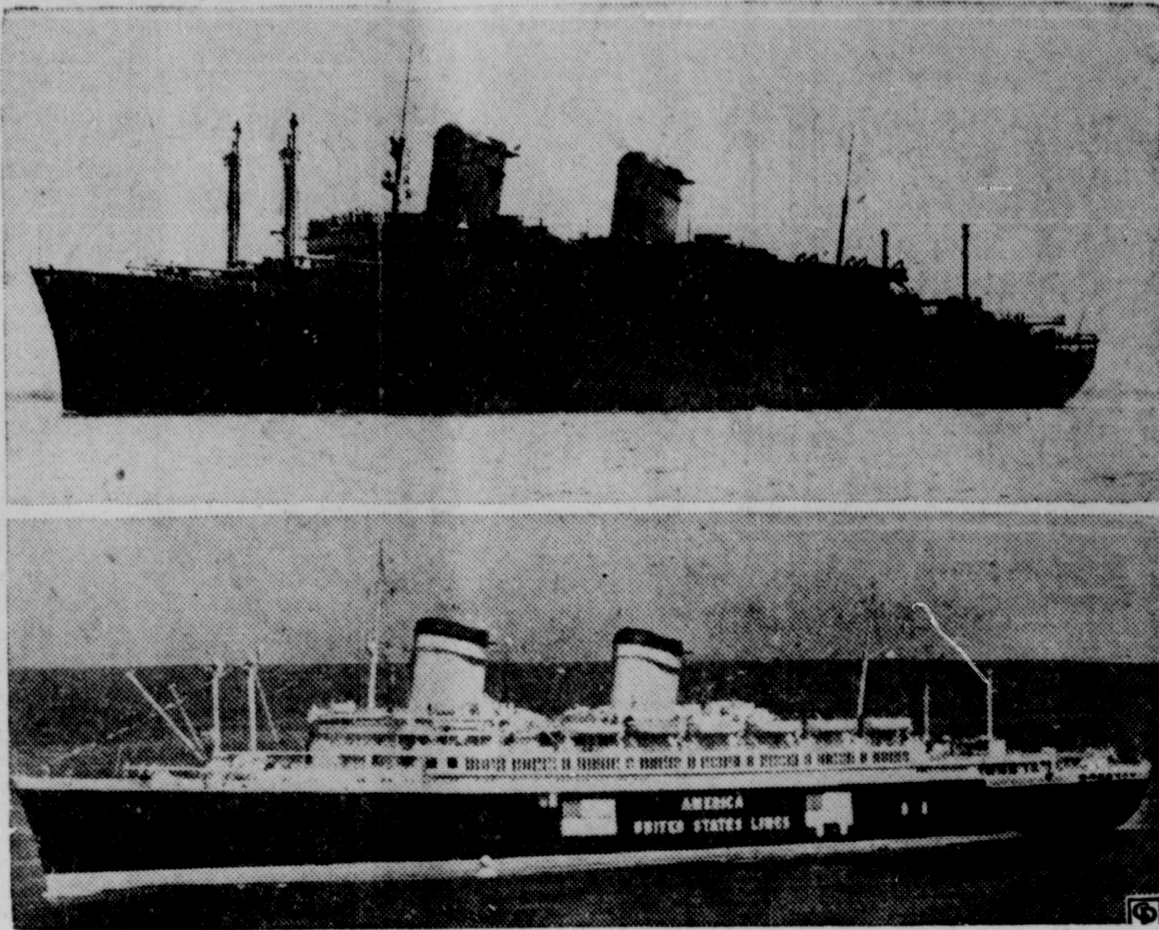

May Clear Problems

One of the chief problems which may arise for county officials from the WPA cuts is that of completing on schedule road projects which already are under way. Authorities hope the July 3 meeting, to be held in the commissioners' office in the Court House, will clear some of their problems.

SALE AND PROFIT IN OHIO LIQUOR DEPARTMENT UP

COLUMBUS, June 26—Both sales and net profits of Ohio's liquor monopoly zoomed to a new all-time high for the first five months period of 1941, while operating expenses sank to a new low, State Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor reported today.

The sales total of $25,847,565 exceeded that of the same period of 1940 by $3,470,011, and the 1939 figure by $5,325,649. Net profits and gallonage taxes totaled $7,436,493, an increase of $601,359 over the first five months of last year and $1,197,159 over 1939.

Operating expenses, despite the increases, dropped $9,300 from the 1940 figure to a new five-months low of $1,402,956, which is $33,605 less than spent to May 13, 1939.

Taylor warned, however, that continuing decreases in operating expenses could not be expected if sales increases continue to mount as rapidly as they have the last few months.

"Many of the expenses are variable and increase in direct proportion to sales," he pointed out. "A continuing increase in volume will mean more employees, although, despite the volume increase to date this year, salaries were $1,851 less than in the first five months of 1940."

Taylor declared that every division of the department showed decreased operating costs, except the enforcement division, where increased activities called for increased salaries and traveling expenses.

RIGID PRICE CONTROL LOOMS IN NATION

F. D. R.'S AIDE HITS AUTO FIRM FOR INCREASES

Henderson Drafting Report To Be Used In Setting Up Legislation

MANY INDUSTRIES CITED

Measure Broad Enough To Cover Many Of Most Vital Commodities

WASHINGTON, June 26—Federal Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson today announced that he will freeze prices of automobile tires and tubes as of June 17.

Henderson, who has also announced that he will fix the prices of new automobiles because of alleged defiance of the Chrysler Corporation in refusing to rescind an increase, revealed that the schedule establishing ceiling prices on rubber tires and tubes at both wholesale and retail levels will be issued early next week.

WASHINGTON, June 26—Federal Price Control Administrator Leon Henderson today began drafting a report for President Roosevelt and Congress recommending enactment of legislation for rigid control of all prices after charging that the Chrysler Corporation had "refused to cooperate in maintaining stable prices."

Henderson declared in a formal statement that the Chrysler Co., which also holds huge National Defense orders, had declined to rescind recent price advances in its automobiles.

Because of Chrysler's action, he said, the government will be forced to step in and establish a "complete overall price ceiling" for new model automobiles which will start rolling off assembly lines August 1. Ceilings will be fixed not only on manufacturers' prices, he asserted, but "on dealers' markups and, in all probability, trade-in values as well."

(Editors Note: In New York, several furniture manufacturers announced price increases of about five percent, in addition to rises of five to ten percent which went into effect at the showing of new lines on Monday. The manufacturers held the price boosts to be justified and said there was no intention of rescinding them.)

In Answer To Plea

(Their action was an answer to Henderson's appeal of the previous day that plans for such advances be submitted to him for approval.)

Henderson, who had asked Chrysler, Ford, Nash, Studebaker and Hudson Companies to rescind recent price advances, bitterly attacked Chrysler as "the first major industrial corporation which had refused to cooperate with his office."

"Had a similar attitude prevailed in other industries," he said, "the cost of living would now be out of control. Refusal of Chrysler..."

"WE'RE IN WAR NOW," AVERS RICKENBACKER

NEW YORK, June 26—Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, World War ace and president of Eastern Air Lines, today was on record with the assertion that "we are in it (the war) and have been for a year but a lot of people don't realize it."

Rickenbacker made his statement on arrival from Atlanta, Ga., where he had been confined in a hospital with injuries suffered in a passenger plane crash last February.

Romania's Capital Hit By Raiders

Russian Planes Swarm Over City In Two Attacks In Daylight

BUDAPEST, June 26—Soviet bombers pounded the Romanian capital of Bucharest twice today, delivering two terrific air raids on the city.

The first attack began at 5:30 a. m. and continued half an hour. The second began at 6:30 and continued for nearly three hours.

Reports to Budapest said the Romanian port of Constanza, previously bombed by swarms of Russian planes, was in ruins and "still burning."

Deaths Reported

BUCHAREST — Several civilians were killed and injured when Soviet war planes raided the heart of Bucharest twice today, dropping 20 small-calibre bombs.

Convoy Attacked

BERLIN—The high command announced today that German submarines attacked a strongly protected convoy in the North Atlantic and sank eight merchant ships totalling 48,000 tons.

German planes were declared to have sunk a 15,000-ton ship last night northeast of Great Yarmouth.

Stukas In Action

BERLIN—In a sudden attack off the British-held Libyan port of Tobruk on Tuesday, the high command reported...

Only persons present at Wednesday night's discussion were the councilmen and Solicitor Joe Adkins, none of whom made any statements regarding the results of the session.

As the parking ordinance stands, it provides for thirty-degree angle parking with parking meters on Main and Court Streets. The four page ordinance, a product of months of discussion over Circleville's parking situation, represents a compromise between the merchants seeking angle parking without meters, and the traffic department calling for parallel parking with meters.

The Safety and Service departments have painted cross-walks and stop signs on most of the busy streets, but report they will mark no parking lines until a parking ordinance is passed.

Auto Industry Girds for Major Role In United States Armament Building

Turning over 50 per cent of its capacity to defense work, the automobile industry is manufacturing these implements of war for the United States and Great Britain.

DETROIT, June 26—More guns, more planes, more tanks, more bullets, more, more of everything. And Michigan's sprawling industries are answering the pleas.

From its automobile assembly lines, another 20th century miracle of mass production is being wrought.

With a year behind it, the automobile industry now is ready for volume production of more than a billion dollars worth of armaments. And they will be ready for millions upon millions of dollars in more orders.

The year past has been a tedious one of tooling over, making ready and constructing giant plants to house these vital tools and send a steady stream of armaments pouring into defense channels—not only for the United States, but for the world's embattled democracies.

The slogan of "defense first" has been taken up unofficially by the automobile industry, with the result that Alvan Macauley, president of the Automobile Manufacturers' association, could say at the organization's recent annual meeting that the period of experimentation and tooling over is now past. He added:

Defense Building Increases "Approaching is the time when in terms of effort, expenditure and...

FAMILY QUARREL LEADS TO DEATH OF OHIO WOMAN

HAMILTON, June 26—Domestic discord which flamed into gunfire when the mother of five children refused to allow her 14-year-old daughter to prepare a sandwich for her estranged husband brought death to Mrs. Della Wilson, and today left Lester Wilson facing a possible charge of first degree murder.

The daughter, Eva June, sobbed out to police her eye-witness account of the slaying: how her father came to the house with the offer of an auto ride for Mrs. Wilson and the children; how the offer was refused; how Wilson left only to come back later.

Her father, who recently filed suit for divorce, asked her to make him a sandwich, Eva June related, but her mother refused to permit her to leave the room. Wilson thereupon assertedly laughed, pulled a gun from his pocket, and opened fire. Mrs. Wilson fell, fatally wounded.

FILM DIRECTOR BEGINS DUTY WITH U. S. ARMY

HOLLYWOOD, June 26—Garson Kanin, one of Hollywood's most prominent directors, was a soldier in the Army today.

He reported for duty at draft induction station immediately after finishing a directing job at the studios yesterday.

Kanin was notified three months ago, but was given deferment to complete the picture he was directing, "Tom, Dick and Harry."

IL DUCE SENDS FORCE TO FIGHT AGAINST SOVIET

Mussolini Reviews Soldiers Prior To Departure For Positions At Front

ROME, June 26 — The Italian government announced today that a Fascist Expeditionary Force will be sent to the Russian front to aid Germany against the USSR.

It was anticipated the force will leave for the front without delay. An official communique said Premier Mussolini this morning reviewed the first motorized division of the Expeditionary Corps chosen to be sent to the Russian front.

Il Duce was accompanied by Italian chief of the general staff, Gen. Ugo Cavallero and other officials.

Mussolini reviewed the troops at a city in the Po Valley where he arrived by plane.

He subjected the Expeditionary Force to a minute inspection and congratulated the commander on the excellent appearance of the men.

Then, after reviewing groups of wounded soldiers and relatives of men killed in action, Il Duce departed by plane to inspect two military hospitals.

LONDON, June 26 — While no official comment was forthcoming here today concerning the Italian announcement that they were sending troops to the German-Russian front, it was thought that the Germans would use the Italians to keep lines of communications open and not as active fighting units.

NAZI CONSUL IN FRISCO BURNING HIS DOCUMENTS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 — Consul General Fritz Wiedemann and his aides were burning papers and records today in the fireplace of the Nazi consulate in the swank Pacific Heights district.

They were preparing to leave San Francisco in accordance with the government's recent order closing all German consulates in the United States.

"We are getting rid of papers and records in small amounts—rationing it, so to speak," Wiedemann declared.

The "rationing," was being done, he explained, so that smoke clouds would not attract attention. Wiedemann said he has not yet received orders from the German embassy in Washington, instructing him when and where to go.

HIGHWAY PATROLMEN OF STATE GATHER AT PARK

Highway patrolmen from all over Ohio were holding their annual picnic at Gold Cliff Park Thursday.

Park officials estimated that 350 highway officers and their families were participating in the program of ball playing, swimming and dancing, and various contests.

Patrolmen began to gather at the park Thursday morning with the festivities opening at noon and continuing through the afternoon and evening.

Those attending Thursday's picnic represent only half the state patrol force, the other group having held its picnic at Gold Cliff a week ago.

HITLER POSTPONES STATEMENT ABOUT PROGRESS OF WAR

Moscow Declares Attacking Nazis Halted In Lithuania And Destroyed In Other Areas; Berlin Expresses Confidence

RED PLANES RAID TURKU IN FINLAND

Admiral Scheer Active In Atlantic; British Continue Heavy Attacks On Germany's Coastal Regions

Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler decided today to let German guns and planes tell in their own deafening way the story of what were termed continued "smashing victories" over the gigantic Russian army.

Unexpectedly, he postponed a promised statement describing in full detail where and how and to what extent the Soviet army and air force are crumbling beneath the hammer-blows of the German military pile-driver.

Military observers immediately speculated as to whether this postponement indicated that German spokesmen were over-optimistic in their original claims that Russia would prove a walk-over. The incident served to highlight the latest war communique issued in Moscow, which claimed that Nazi spearhead units had been pocketed in Lithuania and repulsed or destroyed in the south and central sectors.

Staff Force Hit

In Berlin, however, there was no diminution of confidence. There was, on the other hand, a tendency to say that German victories were piling on one another in such rapid succession that it was difficult to keep track of them. Specifically, Wilhelmstrasse spokesmen told of a successful air attack on a Soviet staff headquarters, destruction of an armored column almost a mile long, and crippling blows to the Red air force.

And in the meantime bombs from the air found targets old and new. The Finnish port of Turku (Aabo) which was almost wrecked in the Russo-Finnish war of last year, was bombed again today, and once again the Finnish sky was red with flames. Another detachment of Soviet planes bombed once-gay Bucharest, causing casualties and undisclosed damage in the heart of what was once the "Paris of the Balkans."

To show that the Russian offensive is merely one chapter in an ever-expanding volume of war and destruction, the German admiralty made known that the pocket battleship Admiral Scheer, sister-ship of the conquered and scuttled Graf Spee, has made a new name for herself as a raider in the North Atlantic. No less than 152,000 tons of enemy shipping sank beneath her guns on her latest raiding mission, it was announced, while other German ships and Luftwaffe planes accounted for 97,300 tons.

FRENCH HINTED TO BE SEEKING SYRIAN WAR END

ISTANBUL, June 26 — Six representatives of the Vichy government, headed by State Secretary Jacques Benoist-Mechin, were expected in Ankara on an important mission for the French government today.

Reports reaching Istanbul said it was believed Benoist-Mechin was seeking Turkish mediation in the Syrian conflict.

(Editor's Note: A dispatch from Vichy said Benoist-Mechin would deliver a "friendly message" from Chief of State Marshal Henri Philippe Petain to Turkish President Ismet Inonu.)

FORMER HARDWARE STORE OWNER DIES IN KINGSTON

John E. Jones, 69, a former hardware merchant of Kingston, died Wednesday at 9:15 p. m. at his home of complications after an illness of several years. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Bertha Lloyd Jones, and was the last member of his immediate family.

He conducted a hardware business in Oak Hill before moving to Kingston in 1912 where he continued in the same business until 1935 when he retired because of ill health. He was a member of the Kingston Presbyterian Church and had taught a class in the Sunday School.

The Rev. L. V. Bauguess of the Kingston Presbyterian Church will conduct the funeral services Saturday at 1 p. m. at the home. Burial will be in the home cemetery at his birthplace near Thurman with Louis Hughes of Oak Hill in charge.

AAA STARTS TO ISSUE MARKET QUOTA CARDS

49 Cent Penalty Must Be
Invoked Unless Rules
Are Followed

OTHER DECREES LISTED

Meeting Scheduled Thursday
Evening In Lancaster
To Discuss Issues

While Pickaway County farmers were finishing their wheat cutting and preparing to market their harvests under the government's marketing quota system, the county AAA committee, Thursday, was filling out marketing quota cards.

Every wheat farmer in the county in order to receive payment for any of the wheat he sells must produce a marketing quota card at the elevator or take a 49 cent penalty for every bushel of wheat he sells, according to County AAA chairman John Boggs.

It is not necessary that a farmer have his marketing quota card to take his wheat to the elevator, but it is necessary that he have it before he receives payment for his grain.

Those farmers who have raised under 15 acres of wheat are not affected by the quota system and therefore automatically will receive marketing cards. No penalty will be inflicted on those farmers who have complied with the AAA program and stored their marketing excess is the normal production of the excess acreage unless a downward adjustment is made on the basis of actual production. Application for such adjustment must be made within 60 days after completing threshing of the wheat crop but not later than December 31, 1941.

A marketing card is issued to the producer only in the event that the penalty of 49 cents a bushel is paid on his marketing excess. The farmer who goes to the County AAA office will receive his marketing card after he has paid the penalty on his farm marketing excess. Once he has his card he may sell all of his wheat at market price. If he fails to get a card, however, he must pay the 49 cent penalty on every bushel he sells.

Local AAA officials and elevator men will attend a meeting in Lancaster Thursday night where the method of handling the quota cards will be discussed. Wheat throughout the county is good this year, County Agent F. K. Blair has reported. Traces of rust are noticeable in some fields, but the crop as a whole promises to be good. Some farmers may start combining in a day or two, Mr. Blair said.

TIP TO WHEREABOUTS OF COLUMBUS GIRL FALSE

COLUMBUS, June 26—With another lead running into a blank wall, authorities were without a single clue to the whereabouts of Mary Louise Glendening, 19-year-old art student missing from her home since June 2. Licking officials went to Buckeye Lake on a tip that one of two girls living in a cottage there was the missing student, but the tip proved false.

SIXTEEN LEAVE FOR INDUCTION, YEAR'S SERVICE

Board Awaits Passage Of
Exemption Act Before
Deferring Men

Sixteen young men, Pickaway County's second largest contingent, left Circleville Thursday morning at 7:45 for the induction station at Fort Hayes, Columbus. The group met at the local draft board headquarters at 7:15 and received final instructions from draft officials. Charles William Bricker, Orient Route 2, was appointed leader of the contingent.

At the induction station the registrants will be given physical examinations and those who fail to pass will be sent back. Under the present system, no replacements will be made of those rejected, according to local Selective Service officials, although the number of rejections may affect the number included in future quotas.

Included in the group leaving Thursday were several over 28 years of age, who under proposed legislation now in Congress would be deferred. Local draft officials have announced, however, that until the measure is passed those over 28 will be inducted the same as those under that age limitation, providing they have no other exemptions.

State Selective Service officials have informed Ohio's 330 local draft boards that they must decide for themselves whether or not to defer men over 28 who are scheduled for induction in the army in the near future.

The local board Thursday announced it had received an official call for three men on July 11. The announcement confirms a previous advance notice.

LABORERS, HOD-CARRIERS GET PLANE PLANT BOOST

COLUMBUS, June 26—Pay increases of 2½ cents an hour went into effect today for laborers and hod-carriers employed on the construction of the new Curtiss-Wright warplane factory at Port Columbus, eliminating one strike threat at the defense plant, but the status of the 156 AFL electricians who staged a protest walkout remained unchanged.

The electricians struck a week ago in protest over what they asserted was the employment of non-union men by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., in the installation of phones. Although the installation has been completed, the unionists are still out, and local spokesmen said no conferences looking to a settlement were scheduled.

The pay increase will affect about 100 workmen. In addition, laborers will receive an additional 2½ cent raise September 1, and hod-carriers a five-cent raise.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backaches quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 1 pint a day. When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

TWO CRUISERS MAY BE DRIVEN IN EMERGENCY

Circleville Oil Co. Donates 25 Gallons of Gasoline To Safety Department

CITY'S FUEL FUND GONE

Safety Director Accepts Gift Made By Manager Of Concern

Circleville's police department cruisers will be in operation in case of emergency, at least for a while, following the offer of Leslie D. May, general manager of the Circleville Oil Company, to give the department 25 gallons of gasoline and a supply of motor oil for the cars.

Safety Director Karl J. Herrmann said Thursday that the gift had been accepted, and that the cruisers would be available in case of any emergency as long as the 25 gallons of fuel last.

The two cars have been in the garage for the last week following a decree by the safety director that they could not be operated because there was no money available with which to purchase gasoline.

Mr. May's letter to the safety director follows:

"Since the funds appropriated for the purchase of gasoline and oil for the police cars are depleted for the year 1941, making it necessary for you to issue an order to discontinue the use of those cars, we realize that you are handicapped in the proper operation of the police department.

"We, as a local concern being very much interested in Circleville, want to do our part in helping to have proper police protection for the city. We will therefore donate 25 gallons of gasoline and the motor oil needed for the use of the police cars so that they may be used, particularly in case of emergency."

HERE'S REPORT OF BIRTHS FOR MONTH OF MAY

Seven girls and eight boys were born in Circleville and Pickaway County during May, according to reports released by the city and county health offices.

The Circleville board reported two girls and three boys born during May and the county board five girls and five boys. Fifteen delayed certificates were issued by the two boards during the month.

Ohio Soldiers Learning Meaning Of Great Speed's Need in Modern War

CAMP CLAIBORNE, La., June 26—The importance of "traveling light" is being learned every day by the 18,000 Ohio soldiers of the 37th Division, now maneuvering in Kistachie National Forest, La., under the command of Maj. Gen. Robert S. Beightler.

Operating under strictly maintained war-conditions, the Ohioans are constantly on the move as their lines advance or retreat in the war-games they are playing. During the course of one three-day field exercise the men may not sleep twice in the same place, nor at two meals from a field-kitchen located where it stood the meal before.

Modern warfare, with its rapidly changing tactical situations, requires that the soldier be constantly prepared to pick up and move on to another location. In the Louisiana maneuvers the V Corps high command has simulated this condition, and sends the Buckeye soldiers first into a forward push, then into a quick retreat.

To the modern infantryman this is not a major problem. He is a self-contained unit. On his person he carries his tent, clothing, blankets, mess-equipment, water flask, ammunition, arms and many other items. Where he walks everything of his personal equipment goes.

Experts Have Job
But to headquarters staffs, kitchen units, engineers and many other more complicated units, a move is a huge job that has to be accomplished in half the time apparently possible, and must be done in spite of the heavy rains that are sweeping Louisiana now, and the difficulties of the terrain in Kistachie Forest.

Modern, speedy trucks with all-wheel drive enable the 37th to cart its heavy equipment where it will.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard R. Allison, Ashville.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse J. Davis, Circleville, Route 2.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow LeMasters, Williamsport.

DELATED CERTIFICATES:
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cox, Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. William McKittrick, New Holland.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Green, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Dean, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson E. Hoffman, Kingston.

Mr. and Mrs. Newton Hartley, Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry E. Rector, Williamsport.

Mr. and Mrs. Chester B. Myers, Circleville RFD.

needs it. These powerful vehicles can plow through deep mud, lumber across country, or speed down the highway. On such a vehicle, for example, cooks load their equipment. Modern, compact, gasoline-burning stoves have replaced the time-honored rolling field kitchen. They fit neatly into the end of the truck body. Mess is now served over the truck's tail-gate, directly to the men, wherever they may be. A few minutes of efficient packing, and the entire unit is ready to roll again to the new position of the unit it serves.

Trained soldiers can move a division headquarters, and in a matter of a few hours have it entirely dismantled and re-established at a new point miles away. Signal company telephone men establish new switchboards and

Today's Garden-Graph

Breeding Better Horesradish

Although horseradish root is perennial and will continue to grow year after year, the best quality can be obtained only when the roots are replanted frequently or when it is treated as an annual. This can be done easily by trimming off some of the small lateral roots when the plants are dug up for use.

As illustrated in the Garden-Graph, use pieces about a quarter-inch thick and cut four to five inches long. Cut the top square and the bottom oblique. Tie in bundles and store in sand over winter.

In the Spring, plant about four inches deep and about a foot apart, making certain that the square cut is uppermost. They may not grow if planted upside down.

'phone service simultaneously with the erection of the headquarters' tents. Miles or wire, or "line", is laid from truck especially designed for the purpose.

The slogging, foot-weary infantryman is no match for modern warfare's requirements of speed and more speed. Trucks, again, supply the answer. Long convoys move whole regiments across country at speeds averaging 25 miles per hour. Recently the 37th Division moved its entire personnel, 18,000 officers and men, 300 miles in less than 36 hours over heavily travelled public roads.

Division Moved Quickly

A few days ago the Ohio soldiers dismantled an entire division headquarters, moved it and re-established it, ready for operation, between 1 p. m. and supper-time. In this operation were three large supply tents, twenty large wall tents, a mess tent, two complete field-kitchen set-ups, and an uncounted number of miscellaneous tents and other units. With all this went the office furniture and equipment for an entire division headquarters, the personal belongings of all staff officers, the office supplies for the headquarters, and all the personal equipment of several hundred enlisted men. The soldiers established the new headquarters, ate their evening mess there, and turned-in for sleep in the new area that night.

Recipe for getting Extra Action out of thin air

It's a cinch to build an automobile engine that's either one thing or another.

You can go in for power — if you don't mind the gas consumption — or you can shoot for economy if stirring action doesn't matter.

What's tough is building a car with two good ideas under its bonnet — like this Buick FIREBALL straight-eight with Compound Carburetion.

One idea is that it doesn't make sense to use a big, gas-gulping carburetor for your easy-going travel when you need only a little one.

The other is that you might as well have plenty-power on call when you can get it practically out of thin air!

So this Buick has two smaller carburetors instead of a single middling-size to big one.

One of them frugally handles all your low-power, round-the-town travel.

The other swings in any time you press down the gas treadle — and gives more lift and wallop — by increasing the supply of air!

Results include: More horsepower — and gas economy running as high as 10% to 15% above previous Buicks, according to owners.

Interesting? Then better get prices and see how little it costs to get this extra action — plus extra room, extra size, extra comfort and extra style.

$930 for the Business Coupe (illustrated above) including Compound Carburetion, delivered at Flint, Mich. State tax, optional equipment and accessories extra. Prices and specifications subject to change without notice.

Henderson Drafting Report To Be Used In Setting Up Legislation

ler is forcing us to take the pricing of automobiles out of the hands of the industry."

He stated that "at the proper time" he will report the full facts of the Chrysler situation to the President and Congress. A price control bill has already been drafted, but it has been held up because of administration efforts to control the situation through Henderson's office. Congressional sources report that Mr. Roosevelt will send Henderson's report, and the bill to Congress in a special message soon, probably within 10 days.

Henderson told Nash, Studebaker and Hudson to continue their higher price quotations because of the Chrysler action, and told Packard it would bring its prices into line with the boosts of the small independents. The Ford request, according to the OPACS official, is still pending.

To Control Commodities

It is reported that the bill drafted by Henderson is broad enough to control the prices of everything from bread and milk to automobiles and farm machinery. Administration sources in Congress say that the proposed legislation may carry some authority over wages, as well as prices, because wages are a vital part of the cost of products.

Henderson has already warned in some manner or another against increases in prices of bread, milk, motor cars, iron and steel products, pig iron, iron and steel scrap, aluminum scrap, carbon black, farm machinery, hides for shoes, and railroad car wheels.

In all cases, he stated, he has received cooperation with the exception of Chrysler. He said that rescinding of price advances by the motor company would have cost it about $4,000,000 "out of the net sales of more than $750,000,000 during the present model year."

Chrysler, it is learned, offered to cooperate with Henderson if he took into consideration that unit manufacture costs have increased, but the price administrator called the offer "only a gesture."

Destruction cometh; and they shall seek peace and there shall be none.—Ezekiel 7:25.

The Rev. and Mrs. George Miller of Springfield announce the birth of a son Tuesday, June 24. Mrs. Miller is the former Frances Stonerock of Town Street.

Mrs. William Lake and baby girl were removed from Berger Hospital Thursday to their home 341 Walnut Street.

Mrs. Russell Siegwald, 235 North Scioto Street, underwent a major operation Thursday in Berger Hospital.

Warren Leist, 5, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Leist, Pleasant Street, had his tonsils removed Thursday in an operation in Berger Hospital.

Division 3 of the Ladies Aid, Mrs. A. J. Lyle, chairman, will hold a bake sale, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock at Charles Smith Meat Market.

Harry Short former Circleville resident who suffered a brain hemorrhage last week at his home in Columbus, is showing slow but steady improvement in White Cross Hospital.

Miss Gertrude Pigman of the high school faculty was removed home Thursday from Berger Hospital where she was a patient for the last week.

YOUNG AVIATOR KILLED, FRIEND HURT CRITICALLY

TOLEDO, June 26—The flying careers of two 16-year-old self-instructed aviators came to a tragic end today when a small Taylor-Cub plane went into a tailspin and crashed, killing Francis Adler, the pilot and seriously injuring Raymond Berger, a passenger.

Air port attendants said Adler had taken his friend, who had 15 hours in the air, up for a ride yesterday to demonstrate his ability when the plane went out of control and crashed.

CLEVELAND, June 26—A mass of debris was all that remained today of a small monoplane which crashed in a wheat field in nearby North Olmsted yesterday killing its pilot George A. Kloos Jr., 23.

The plane spun earthward at terrific speed and hit the ground with such force that it dug a hole a foot deep in the field. Firemen worked 20 minutes prying the wreckage from the cockpit before they could extricate the pilot's body.

Although gasoline was spilled over the wreckage, it did not catch fire.

Inspector William Jarrell of the Civil Aeronautics Board declared Kloos, a truck driver with three years' flying time, was unable to bring the plane out of a spin.

Mr. and Mrs. Olan Dille and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Binkley were visiting relatives in Columbus last Sunday.

Miss Thelma Kline of Lancaster returned home after a ten day visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mack Julian.

Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of McArthur were the last Monday evening six o'clock dinner guests at the home of Mrs. Sarah Reichelderfer of Tarleton.

Larry and Violet Johnson of Columbus grand children of Mrs. Olan Dille are here visiting her for a short time.

Mrs. Grace Carper of Circleville visited last Thursday with her sister, Mrs. Esther Dille of this valley.

The Bolt and Construction Co. is now busily engaged at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Reichelderfer remodeling their dwelling.

The Young Peoples class of the Lutheran church of Tarleton met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Jones and family of Tarleton Wednesday evening of this week. Most excellent refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Wood of this valley celebrated their Golden wedding anniversary June 18 when about 30 of their old friends and neighbors from Pleasantville came with well filled baskets including a freezer of home-made ice cream to remind them of the occasion at the noon hour an excellent dinner was served.

Harvesting of the golden wheat crop in our valley is now in full blast this week and the crop looks as if it might be first class.

sonable ways and means of bolstering Russian morale but as not prepared to turn over important defense materials to the Soviets until their determination to fight to the utmost has been conclusively proved.

Isolationists Active

While the government made its plans, House non-interventionists planned a two-fold move to minimize possible transportation of important war supplies from the United States to Russia. The contemplated action embraced:

1—A congressional act proclaiming absolute opposition to such shipments.

2—A resolution proclaiming a state of war exists between Germany and Russia.

The latter plan is designed to bring into effect provisions of the Neutrality Act which forbids American vessels to travel into war zones. Yesterday the State Department announced President Roosevelt does not plan officially to recognize the new war, thus leaving American ships free to transport goods to Russian ports.

Simultaneously, an International News Service staff correspondent who has just left Soviet Russia disclosed the desperate efforts of Josef Stalin to avoid war with Germany and his realization as long ago as May 6 that hostilities were inevitable.

Now, with Stalin's fears realized, and war raging along the entire eastern front, German authorities claimed that Hitler's legions have swept the Soviet army far back from its border defenses and that the Luftwaffe holds air supremacy over the battle ground.

Like "40-Day Flood"

The Nazi blitz forces were declared to be pushing eastward against the Reds on a scale "as vast as the 40-day flood."

Moscow, however, said the main German drive against the Ukraine has been halted and the chief Russian defenses on the eastern bank of the Pruth River are holding up against terrific German and Romanian pressure.

Seventy-six German planes were declared to have been shot down yesterday, while Red air force losses were put at 17 machines.

In Tokyo the government was still wondering what Japan should do about the Russo-German conflict. The cabinet and the high command held another joint meeting to consider "important questions confronting Japan."

London fighter planes this morning maintained a continuous and huge patrol of the channel and the invasion coast after RAF bombers during the night hammered the German port of Bremen and the naval base at Kiel. German planes dropped a few bombs on the southeast coast of England and northeast coast of Scotland.

Berlin said Stuka dive-bombers sank a British heavy cruiser, a light cruiser and a tanker at the Libyan port of Tobruk Tuesday. The German high command also announced German submarines had sunk eight merchant ships totalling 48,000 tons in the North Atlantic.

ROTARIANS HEAR STORY OF VISIT TO BOYS' STATE

What they did at Boys' State was discussed by William Burget and Robert Moon, local delegates, at the Rotary luncheon in the American Hotel Hurricane, Thursday.

The boys, sent to Boys' State by the Rotary Club and the American Legion, were among the 800 boys from all over Ohio who attended the ten-day school at the Ohio State Fairgrounds in Columbus, where they were taught functions of state, city and county government.

William Burget served as Safety Director of Bricker City while at Boys' State. He discussed the work of the city governments carried on at the camp and emphasized the training received by the boys in citizenship and discipline. While at Boys' State he was on the staff of the "Buckeye," Boys' State newspaper.

Robert Moon told Rotarians of the legislative procedure at Boys' State. He was a representative to the Boys' State legislature which considered 60 bills for the operation of the camp. As a part of the program he was taken with other members of Boys' State legislature to the Ohio General Assembly building where he occupied the seat of Representative William D. Radcliff. He was chosen to the Boys' State Assembly on the Federalist ticket.

Harry Heffner, new president of the Rotary Club, took over the gavel from Retiring President Frank Barnhill with the beginning of a new Rotary year. During the last year the club had an average attendance of 91.35 percent. Karl Herrmann was in charge of the program Thursday.

A. F. L. SHIPYARD WORKERS BEGIN DUTIES MONDAY

SAN FRANCISCO, June 26 — San Francisco AFL shipyard machinists today voted to end their strike and return to work Monday in shipyards where $665,000,000 worth of vital work on warships and cargo vessels has been delayed seven weeks.

Results of the AFL membership vote were not disclosed but the margin to terminate the stubbornly fought strike was officially stated to have been 5 to 1.

CIO machinists, on strike in East Bay yards, will hold a membership meeting tonight, since the moves of AFL and CIO machinists have been coordinated, it was expected that the CIO machinists would follow the move of the AFL.

The strike came at a time when 11 shipyards and ship repair plants affected by the walkout were engaged in building new navy warships and Maritime Commission cargo vessels.

It was called May 10 by 1,200 AFL machinists in San Francisco and 500 CIO machinists in the East Bay. During the intervening weeks the strikers ignored back-to-work pleas by President Roosevelt, a congressional committee, the United States Navy and by Harvey Brown, international president of the AFL Machinists' Union.

The union lost its demands for a three cent hourly wage increase and double time for overtime, but won a major concession when the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company signed the coastwide master shipyard agreement, which entails the closed shop. Bethlehem always had maintained an open shop and had refused to be a party to the master agreement ratified by other companies.

The master agreement provides for $1.12 an hour basic pay, with time and one half for overtime. The machinists walked out when they were refused demands for $1.15 an hour and double time for overtime.

The Twelfth Naval District headquarters was in the midst of a campaign to end the strike by recruiting machinists and granting them civil service ratings when the machinists voted on their back-to-work proposal.

MRS. CLARA BOWSER DIES AT RESIDENCE OF NIECE

Mrs. Clara Bowsher, 78, a native of Monroe Township and a resident of Circleville for many years, died Thursday at 1:12 a. m. at the home of her niece, Mrs. Fred Baird, Deer Creek Township.

Bowsher, whose home was at 532 East Mound Street, had been ill two weeks of complications.

She was born August 30, 1862, a daughter of Michael and Elizabeth Terflinger Strevey. She was twice married, first to John Stevenson and second to John H. Bowsher, both of whom are deceased. A brother, Marion Strevey, East High Street, survives.

She was a member of Trinity Lutheran Church. The funeral will be Saturday at 10 a. m. at the residence in Circleville, the Rev. G. L. Troutman officiating. Burial will be in Springdale Cemetery, Williamsport, by C. E. Hill. Friends may view the body at the home after noon Friday.

TAX VALUES CHECKED

Pickaway County's Board of Revision, checking tax valuations in the county, is expected to complete its work Thursday, opening the way for posting the 1941 tax duplicate. The board includes Auditor Forrest Short, Treasurer Robert Colville and John Keller, chairman of the board of county commissioners.

Damascus Raided

JERUSALEM—A death toll of more than 30 was counted in Damascus, the capital of Syria, today after German planes raided the ancient city, according to press dispatches to Jerusalem. Damascus was captured by British and Free French forces several days ago. The reports said that many persons were injured. Four hundred bombs were said to have fallen in the heavily populated Babtouna quarter and in the vicinity of the Omay Yad Mosque and the tomb of Saladin.

No Red Alliance

LONDON—The London Daily Sketch said today that there will be no formal alliance between Britain and Soviet Russia but that the new diplomatic term "cooperator" will be used to cover Anglo-Russian relations. The paper said Russia will declare adherence to terms of war aims at a conference with Britain and the refugee governments of German-occupied countries in London June 12.

Drive Into Syria

LONDON—Military authorities in London declared today that British forces in Syria have advanced 10 or 12 miles along the Damascus-Beirut road in a westward drive to capture the ancient and strategically important Lebanese port.

Supply Ship Sunk

NEW YORK—The British radio in a broadcast heard by NBC today reported the sinking of another of the supply ships formerly attached to the sunken German battleship Bismarck, which was sent to the bottom after it destroyed the British battle cruiser Hood. The radio broadcast said the supply vessel, the 9,000-ton steamer Elba, was sunk 900 miles northwest of the Cape Verde Islands. The eighth Bismarck supply ship so far sunk, the Elba was reported to be operating as a commerce raider.

VICHY—Admiral Abrial, governor of Algier, arrived in Vichy today to discuss the situation there with the French government.

NEW YORK—An Australian radio broadcast picked up in New York by CBS said today that Australian staff officers in Syria expect a Vichy request for an armistice in the near future.

JERRY HICKEY DIES IN AKRON AT AGE OF 60

Jerry Hickey, 60, died of tuberculosis Wednesday in Akron where he had lived for the last 40 years. He was a son of John and Minnie Hickey and had spent his early life in Circleville.

Survivors include his widow, Kathryn Dumm Hickey, also a former Circleville resident; a daughter, Mrs. Karl Gordon of Akron; five brothers, John of Akron and Patrick, William, Thomas and Joseph of Circleville, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Johnson of St. Louis and Mrs. Margaret Van Camp of Sidney, Australia.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2 p. m. in Akron.

HEALTH OFFICER SAYS STREAMS ARE POLLUTED

All streams in the county are polluted and persons who swim in them are subjecting themselves to typhoid fever germs, according to County Health Commissioner A. D. Blackburn.

The health commissioner remarked, however, that considering the number who do swim in polluted streams and never contract disease, the situation is not particularly alarming.

An analysis of the water in any of the streams in the county undoubtedly would show typhoid and other intestinal germs, Dr. Blackburn said. The germs enter the body when the swimmer swallows or breathes in water and do not enter through the skin.

Stagnate pools or partially dried creeks may contain more pollution than running streams, although this is not always the case, the doctor said.

AUTO INDUSTRY HAS MAJOR ROLE

new $11,000,000 plant at Ypsilanti, thousands of "blitz buggies," development of a 1,500-horsepower airplane of original design.

General Motors—Machine guns, Pratt and Whitney airplane engines, Diesel engines, tank engines, naval ordnance, secret experimental work in five plants, bomber parts, shells, trucks, Allison aircraft engines.

Chrysler—Thousands of cars and trucks for the army, completion and production of a huge tank arsenal, forgings for bombers, anti-aircraft guns, planning 2,000-horsepower aircraft engine, several educational orders for airplane parts.

Train Men

That's the picture, briefly, of the way the "Big Three" in the automobile field are doing their part in national defense. But while "more and more" is the cry, these companies have not forgotten another important part of the national defense picture—the training of men.

Chrysler is starting construction of a new three-story building for the exclusive use of the Chrysler Institute of Engineering, where students will be trained in automotive engineering and allied fields. This new building will have 15 classrooms, a large assembly room, three chemical laboratories and physical, mechanical and metallurgical laboratories.

The service division of General Motors Truck and Coach will give specialized factory training in army truck service and maintenance to approximately 1,000 commissioned officers of the United States army.

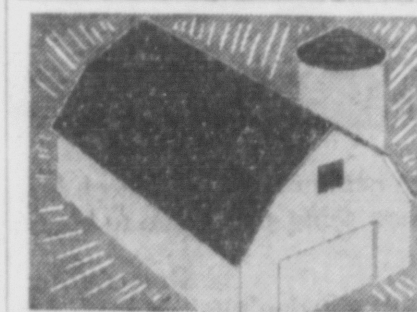

Ford is setting up an aircraft apprentice school, equipped to train 2,000 students at one time, in its new airplane engine plant. Also, 120 officers a month from army posts all over the United States will be instructed in the operation and maintenance of Ford-built military equipment at classes. This in addition to the complete United States navy service school set up at the Rouge plant, where 1,000 sailor recruits are being trained in mechanical trades. And Ford is training women volunteers in automobile mechanics with the help of the Red Cross Motor Corps.

Other Companies, Too

Meantime, other automobile companies are taking on defense work. The Hudson Motor Car company is building a gigantic naval ordnance factory and is working on airplane parts. Packard has millions of dollars in orders for Rolls-Royce airplane engines. Thousands of trailers are being made by the Fruehauf Trailer company. Fisher Body will make bomber parts and sub-assemblies. Torpedo boats are going down the ways at Michigan's Fisher Body works. Continental Motors has millions in orders for aircraft engines.

And so it goes. Millions upon millions of dollars in defense orders, but the story can only be partly told. What has started out as mere "letters of intent" from the companies to the government has developed into orders, grown into buildings, trickled into our armed forces, and those of Great Britain, and soon—very soon—this trickle will mushroom into a steady and overflowing stream of production.

YANKEES MOVE INTO TOP SPOT; INDIANS FALL

DiMaggio Continues Long Streak; Grove, Rigney In Yeoman Work

CARDS, DODGERS VICTORS

Chicago White Sox Pull Triple Steal To Aid Johnny Rigney

By Pat Robinson NEW YORK, June 26—We had intended saying a few kind words about Lefty Grove and his 29th Major League victory today.

We also had in mind a few nice remarks about Monty Pearson's grand comeback; about Johnny Rigney's 13-inning shutout and about one Bill Harman, an astonishing rookie who shows up as a catcher for the Phils in the first half of a twin bill and as a pitcher in the second half and does equally well in both spots.

You see the fact is we'd grown tired of writing about Joe DiMaggio and the rest of the Yankees and so we had intended giving them a quick brush-off.

But the trouble with Joe and the rest of the Yankees is that they simply won't be ignored. And how are you going to overlook an outfit that has doggedly battled their way into first place as have the Yankees today.

New 37 In Row

And how can we fail to mention that Joe kept both his own and the Yankee streak alive by belting his 16th homer? It simply can't be done and so we are forced to remind you that Joe has now hit in 37 consecutive games—with only four to go to tie the record—and that the Yankees created another new record by getting 34 homers in a stretch of 20 straight games.

Oh, well, those are facts and if the Indians intend to stay close to the Yankees they'd better start pitching Bob Feller about every other day.

The Yanks topped the Browns yesterday while old man Grove was subduing the Indians, 7 to 2. And he it noted that Cronin's crushers are very much in the pennant race.

Meanwhile the Athletics were giving a few lessons to Schoolboy Rowe to tame the Tigers, 5 to 4. And that brings us back to Rigney whom Uncle Sam turned down because of a bad ear.

Triple Steal Successful

Johnny hooked up with Sid Hudson of the Senators and they went 13 hits before Johnny came down in front, 2 to 0. Sid gave only three hits up to the fatal inning when two hits and a pass filled the bases. Then he walked the next hitter unintentionally and the Sox proceeded to stage one of the rarest plays in baseball—a successful triple steal.

The Cardinals clung to their precarious half game lead over the Dodgers by pounding the Braves again, 6-2, while the Dodgers once more were trimming the Pirates, 5 to 4.

Bill Lee had a bad first inning and the Giants shoved over three runs and went on to beat the Cubs, 4-1. And the helpless Phils dropped a pair to the Reds, 8-3 and 5-1.

Elmer Riddle, stylish young right hander, turned in his seventh straight win without a defeat for the Reds in the opener and Monte Pearson turned in a five hitter in the nightcap, a great performance after his long spell on the sidelines.

It was in the first game that the aforementioned Harman made his debut as a catcher and late in the second game he showed up as a pitcher.

BARNES TO PUT SOFTBALL TEAM INTO NEW LOOP

Bobby Barnes, youthful athlete, is seeking to organize a softball team and obtain a backer to take the place of the State Highway Department outfit that failed to put in an appearance Wednesday evening for its first scheduled game in the Softball League.

Barnes expects to have his team ready for Friday evening when a game with the Blue Ribbon Dairy will be played.

A "scrub" game was played Wednesday in place of the scheduled contest between the Dairy and the Highway Department.

Thursday's contest will be between the Purina Chows and Circleville Lumber Co.

DiMaggio Nearing Sisler's Hit Mark

George Sisler . . . record holder.

NEW YORK, June 26—To one side, Rogers, and, George, kindly move over. And—while we're at it—you, too, Willie, might get ready to give the young fellow a bit of elbow room on your particular shelf in the hall of baseball fame.

At the moment the young fellow—he's one Joseph Paul DiMaggio of the San Francisco Di Maggios—already has passed one of your number in record number of consecutive games in which he has chalked up at least one safe hit. And now he's after the rest of you.

As of today the New York Yankee statesman has hit safely in 37 consecutive games.

That beats the modern National league champion, Rogers Hornsby, who went hitless after 33 happy days—from August 13 to September 19, 1922. Hornsby was then laboring in the colors of the St. Louis Cards.

THREE WAY TIE FOR TOP PLACE IN A. A. PREVAILS

COLUMBUS, June 26—A virtual three-way tie for first place in the American Association arose to plague the loop statisticians today in the wake of victories by Kansas City and Louisville while Minneapolis was dropping a tilt to the rejuvenated Milwaukee Brewers.

Actually, Kansas City climbed into the driver's seat by edging St. Paul, 5 to 4, by staging a brilliant ninth-inning rally which netted the necessary three runs. Each side used four hurlers.

Minneapolis slipped from first spot but maintained a three-point bulge over Louisville for second despite a 7 to 5 loss to the Brewers, who thus won their first game for their new manager, Charlie Grimm. The Brewers jumped away to a four-run lead in the first three cantos and were never headed. The ladies night audience for the Brewer park, which has been accustomed to crowds of far less than 1,000, totaled 4,415 fans.

Louisville soundly thumped Columbus, 6 to 1, to occupy the third spot in the triumvirate. Manager Bill Burwell was chased from the park in the initial frame for protesting a decision on a called strike, but his charges seemed to do very well without him. Oscar Judd, a former Red Bird now doing hurling chores for the Colonels, allowed his former mates only eight scattered bingles in turning in the best pitching performance of the day.

The Toledo Mudhens fattened their batting averages at the expense of a trio of alleged Indianapolis hurlers, clouting 16 bingles for a 13 to 3 decision.

HOGAN INITIAL ARRIVAL AT DENVER PGA SCENE

DENVER, June 26—Blazin' Ben Hogan, the crack golfer from Texas, popped up today in Denver—the first on hand for the 1941 P.G.A. National Tournament which will start on July 7 with 117 of the nation's top-notch pros entered.

Hogan strolled over the famed Cherry Hills course with the home pro, Rip Arnold, and decided that the 71-par links was in top condition. He didn't bring along his bag of clubs, saying he was going fishing in the Rockies until a few days before the tournament starts.

Hogan, the year's leading money winner among the pros, will be presented the Vardon Trophy at Cherry Hills for his 1940 performances.

TY COBB DEFEATS RUTH IN CHARITY GOLF EVENT

NEWTON, Mass., June 26—Ol' Ty Cobb may or may not have been a greater baseball player than Babe Ruth, but one thing is more certain today. Ol' Ty is a more consistent golfer.

To prove it, Ty held possession of the silver trophy put up by Film Star Bette Davis. And in Ty's own words "I've got something to hand down to my grand children. I beat Babe Ruth at golf."

Tyrus beat Ruth 3 and 2 at the Commonwealth Country Club in a match for charity arranged by the New England Left Handed Golfers Association.

HANK HAS CONCUSSION

CHICAGO, June 26—Hank Leiber, Chicago Cubs outfielder, was said to be progressing favorably today at Illinois Masonic Hospital, where he is under treatment for a slight concussion suffered in the Cubs-Giants game Tuesday when he was accidentally "beaten" by Pitcher Cliff Melton. Doctors said x-rays showed conclusively that Leiber had sustained no fracture.

Redlegs Take Two Games From Philadelphia, Start West

CINCINNATI, June 26—When Cincinnati Redleg fans think of their team's excellent hurling—and it has been excellent, despite the poor showing of the squad to date this season they usually picture a Derringer, Walters, Thompson, Beggs or Moore on the mound.

But Bill McKechnie has another pair of aces up his sleeve, and he played them yesterday to take a pair of tilts from the Philadelphia Furies, 8 to 3 and 5 to 1.

The gentlemen's names are Elmer Riddle, who chalked up his seventh victory without defeat in the opener by scattering 11 bingles, and Monte Pearson, who turned in a five-hit performance in the nightcap.

Pearson had a shutout going into the final frame, but relaxed enough to allow the Phillies to slip over a counter when Danny Litwhiler swung on a fast one for four bases.

The Reds take off on a western swing today, stopping off at Kansas City for an exhibition game under the lights with the American Association outfit. Friday the Reds will open a four-game series against the St. Louis Cardinals at Sportsman's park.

DODGERS NEAR MILLION IN PAID ADMISSIONS

NEW YORK, June 26—Home from their very successful road trip, the Brooklyn Dodgers today were nearing the 1,000,000 mark for paid admissions this season.

The league's best drawing card, the Dodgers have attracted 493,620 in 30 games at Ebbets Field and 459,992 in 35 games on the road.

STANFORD STARS MAY TEST EACH OTHER IN JOUST

COLUMBUS, June 26—Although it was Stanford University against the field today in the 44th annual National Collegiate golf tournament, Eddie Twiggs, veteran Stanford golf coach, moaned loud and long. True, he had four boys among the 16 remaining in match play—but all are in the same bracket.

The lovable Twiggs, immaculate in his white sports suit, complained bitterly, "Here, I've got four of the greatest undergraduate golfers in the country and they'll have to play each other in the quarter-finals. That's not right."

Despite Twiggs' optimism about getting his four swingers into the quarter-finals for their individual scalping party, the competition in the collegiate meet for the Indians was expected to reach a torrid pitch today as the last 16 tee off in two more rounds of match play.

Here's today's third round schedule:

Marshall Carlson, University of Toledo, vs. Warren Berl, Stanford. A. C. Williams, Yale, vs. Ray Brownell, Stanford.

Alex Welsh, Illinois, vs. Dee Replogle, Stanford.

Dan Carmichael, Jr., Princeton, vs. Charles Finger, Stanford. F. Dixon Brooke, Virginia, the defending champion, vs. William Zylstra, Michigan State. Otto Greiner, Baltimore, vs. Richard Wolfley, Illinois. E. K. Gravelly, Yale, vs. Earl Stewart, Louisiana State. Robert Brownell, Duke, vs. Cary Middlecoff, Mississippi. The collegians will play the 18-hole match play round today with the four semi-finalists clashing Friday in 36-hole matches. The finals on Saturday will also be over the 36-hole route.

GREAT SPEECH

AMERICANS and Britons of this generation have probably heard no more powerful and eloquent speech than the one delivered by Winston Churchill last Sunday to a world audience. People who did not hear it or read it might do themselves a service by turning back and reading it now. It may be in the school readers of the future, as an oratorical masterpiece. It will probably be in the histories when they set about preserving the highlights of this tragic era.

Churchill, always literary and magnetic, had a theme worthy of his powers. He rose to notable heights in denouncing Germany's attack on her Russian ally, as another bold step toward mastery of the world. For a historic parallel it would be interesting to turn back to the famous Philippics delivered by the Greek orator Demosthenes about 23 centuries ago in Athens, against Philip of Macedon, who was then setting about to conquer the world as Hitler is doing now.

PATRIOTIC JAMS

WE Americans being what we are, there is probably something to the National Safety Council's prediction that the Fourth of July, now coming at us endwise, will bring the biggest traffic jam in American history.

But one part of that prediction is probably wrong. The Council says there will be more than 30,000,000 cars on the road. We can't quite believe that 30,000,000 Americans are that dumb.

Of course we ourselves will have to do a bit of driving. You know how it is on the Fourth, visiting relatives and going on picnics and so on. And it's hard to realize just how it's going to be on the highways along toward evening of the Fourth until you get caught in a traffic jam a couple of miles long. But surely a lot of us with good enough memories to recall how it has been on former Fourth will stay at home this time and be comfortable.

Still, there's something about the Glorious Fourth that makes it hard to be sensible. And then there's some satisfaction in telling next day about the unprecedented traffic jam. And to tell the truth, there are some special reasons this year for getting out and celebrating our Day of Freedom, no matter how we suffer for it. We're still free, and we still have the cars and the gas and the picnic lunch baskets

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

CLOSE PALS AS ENVOYS

WASHINGTON — The Russo-German war has brought more than ever to the forefront two young diplomats who represent the two belligerents, Ambassador Constantin Oumansky of Russia and Charge d'Affaires Hans Thomsen of Germany.

Both are about the same age, in their early forties, both are extremely able, both play an extremely different role, and neither circulates very much in Washington society.

Thomsen, born of a Norwegian mother and married to a Hungarian wife, sometimes is suspected of anti-Hitler leanings. This suspicion has been increased by his wife's unconcealed dislike for Hitler. Frau Thomsen has declared that she would not go back to Germany if her husband is recalled, as long as Hitler is in power.

Actually, however, Thomsen is a loyal Nazi and a close friend of Hitler's. He happened to be in the Foreign Office when Hitler first came into power, and served for some time as Liaison officer between the new Chancellor and the Foreign Office. Quite a bond of friendship grew up between them.

Likewise, Ambassador Oumansky is close personally to the dictator of his country, Josef Stalin. Oumansky once was chief of the press bureau in Moscow, in other words, chief censor, and came into close contact with Stalin.

Oumansky and his wife are great students of American life and politics, and know this country as well or better than most diplomats. They have not circulated socially since Russia made her ill-fated alliance with Hitler in 1939, but the Soviet receptions once were famous for caviar, vodka and rich viands rivaling anything given during the ornate days of the Czar.

OUNANSKY AND HULL

Oumansky has had frequent contact with the State Department, especially last summer and fall, when Sumner Welles was trying to work out an agreement by which Russia might be weaned away from the Axis and aid the United States in case of trouble with Japan. It was tough diplomatic negotiating, first because Oumansky was having trouble with pro-Axis Stalin; second because Welles was having trouble with his anti-Soviet chief, Secretary Hull.

Despite his knowledge of American politics, Ambassador Oumansky made one of the prize remarks of recent diplomatic history one day when he complained:

"The only person I see when I go to the State Department is Sumner Welles. I think a nation of the importance of Russia should have its ambassador received by the Secretary of State himself."

Ambassador Oumansky did not know it, but the chief reason Hull did not see him (though he did later on one or two occasions) was that Hull was too busy bulging with food. On mature reflection, we should worry about traffic jams.

Bleaches Can Be Used for Removing Freckles

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Before long the question which supersedes questions of state and international geography will be coming to my desk: "How to prevent freckles?"

There is a kind of psychological aspect to freckles; sometimes they are cute, and sometimes they are a curse. Under the age of six they are cute. Later they are likely to be objectionable.

Everything about freckles is easy to explain except why they exist. The dermatologist tells us they are tiny blotches of tan. They are just like ordinary sun tan or tanning of the skin in other people, but in blondes and red heads the pigment spots turn especially dark and stand out and are separated from the rest of the skin by white areas or oceans of white.

The dermatologist also tells us that freckles usually stay with a person for a long time, sometimes permanently. What the dermatologist does not tell us is why some people should freckle and some people should tan. All we know is that the blondes and red heads seem to have a dearth of spots instead of being evenly distributed.

Getting rid of freckles is also not quite as easy as it sounds. The pigment lies deep in the skin and on the surface. The most we can do is to bleach or perhaps remove the upper layer of the skin. Be careful that you do not use a preparation which contains mercury. Mercury is effective but dangerous.

Ordinary hydrogen peroxide is helpful when it is full strength and fresh. It works through the action of oxygen as a bleaching agent.

Lemon juice is also good. The following additional formulas may be used:

Formula No. 1 (Cream)
Peroxide of hydrogen 24 parts
Glycerin 1 part
Lanolin (anhydrous) 100 parts
Mix by emulsification. Apply to freckled area whenever you can.

Formula No. 2 (Lotion)
Potassium carbonate 4 parts
Potassium chlorate 1 part
Borax 1 part
Glycerin 10 parts
Water to make 100 parts
Apply at night and whenever feasible.

Formula No. 3 (Lotion)

Glycerin 1 part
Alcohol 16 parts
Lemon juice to make 100 parts
Mix well. Apply as often as three times a day.

Formula No. 4 (Paste) Freckle Preventive

Quinine Sulfate 1 part
Petrolatum (white) 60 parts
Applied to exposed areas before going in sun may prevent freckles.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. A. Z.: "Is it true that from taking the so-called needle shots in your arm for low or high blood pressure that in time it will produce cancer?"

Answer—Nobody knows the cause of cancer but it is definitely known that this is not one of the causes of cancer.

H. L. R., McKeesport, Pa.: "Are injections for rupture successful? Have been wearing a truss for years which makes me sore and uncomfortable."

Answer: Injections for rupture are successful in some cases and operation is successful in others. The description of your condition would seem to suggest to me that I would try anything for relief.

A. G., Bellevue, Ohio.: "Could such a symptom as dull, aching pain in the chest, coming on after strain, fatigue or excitement, in a person with a positive tuberculin reaction mean tuberculosis? What proportion of adults have a positive tuberculin reaction?"

Answer: A positive tuberculin reaction in an adult has no significance. Nine-tenths of all adults have a positive tuberculin reaction. Your symptoms suggest heart strain rather than tuberculosis. Tuberculosis seldom produces a chest pain.

O. C. J.: "Can gall stones be cured without an operation?"

Answer—Gall stones are never cured without operation in the sense that they are dissolved or disappear, but they frequently become quiescent and do no harm for twenty or thirty years.

DEATH AT THE SWITCH

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER THIRTY

HANS' EYES popped wide as he faced the two who entered the model railroaders' headquarters. "What be you doing here?" he asked.

"I'll ask you the same thing," said Henry quickly. "Puzzlement was added to surprise on the big Swede's face. 'But Ay be member of club. Why shouldn't Ay be here?'"

"I'll tell you why you're here!" exclaimed Richard. "You're the man who ran away from this building a minute ago. You came back to make it look like you're innocent! But you're out of breath because you've been running. And you're all muddy!"

"Why—Ay—Ay—" "Richard!" his father warned. "Don't be hasty! Just because I said . . ."

"Ay don't understand. What man run away? And what be you doing here?" Hans repeated.

"The murderer of John Ives and of Professor Bissbe ran away, that's who!" the boy told him. "And we're here because we've been trying to catch him—you!"

"Richard!" Henry apologized. "The boy doesn't realize what he's saying. But how did you get so wet?"

Hans looked more and more surprised and bewildered. "It is raining. Don't you know it? Ay could not get out tonight. Ay hurry from village, on foot."

"And you didn't see anyone running away from here?"

Hans shook his head. "He was headed across the field, westward. Maybe he didn't turn toward the road."

"Some crook maybe. Some robber. Hans seemed alarmed. 'He didn't steal any of the trains?'"

Henry shrugged his shoulders. "We don't know any more about him than you do—except that I almost recognized him. I felt sure—"

Laurence came in from his unsuccessful watch at the rear of the lodge. He knocked water from his hat in the doorway. "Oh, there you are, Hans! We've had a little excitement while I was waiting for you."

Richard's eyes widened at Laurence's words. "You expected Hans? Then it couldn't have been . . ."

Laurence grinned. "No, it couldn't have been Hans who frightened you, if that's what you mean. Hans wouldn't have needed to run away. He and I had an appointment to work on the trains here tonight."

Henry stammered. "D—doesn't it seem a little too soon after Ives' death to be playing with trains again?"

Laurence nodded. "Perhaps. But model railroad is a disease. You can't just forget about it." He smiled slightly. "And none of us feels too broken hearted over the death of Ives—if you don't mind my saying so."

"Oh—it's not that. I've heard he wasn't a pleasant man to have around. You had some trouble with him, I've been told, over one of the—ah—friendships you formed at the club!"

Consternation crossed the face of the young farmer for a fleeting instant. He did his best to conceal it. "You've been misinformed. I didn't get along any worse with him than the other members did."

"We don't be here for fun tonight," Hans declared. "Hans and I are here as investigators, not as railroad fans, Laurence explained. 'We aren't satisfied with the police theory of the crime.'"

"You have a theory of your own?"

"Not exactly. We admit Ives was shot by one of the persons here Wednesday night, but we don't think the police are looking for him in the right way. They've already quit searching this room. We say the secret to the murder must be right here!"

"You mean a hidden entrance to the room where he was killed?"

"That was my first idea."

"But not mine," said Hans. "I'm convinced now there can't be any way into that room except through the regular doorway. We're still going to investigate Hans' idea that a gun might have been controlled electrically, and pulled out of the room by a string after it went off."

"Or carried out on one of the trains!" Richard suggested. Hans nodded. "We think of that, too, but no trains go into that room."

Laurence agreed. "That's a little too fantastic. But we do think the killer in some way took advantage of the peculiar setting and the equipment here. Somewhere in this miniature world is the answer!"

"It's a good theory," Henry admitted. "I think, though, that the police must have gone over everything expertly, because the same ment to work on the trains here tonight."

Henry stammered. "D—doesn't it seem a little too soon after Ives' death to be playing with trains again?"

Laurence nodded. "Perhaps. But model railroad is a disease. You can't just forget about it." He smiled slightly. "And none of us feels too broken hearted over the death of Ives—if you don't mind my saying so."

"It's a good theory," Henry admitted. "I think, though, that the police must have gone over everything expertly, because the same theory would occur to them."

"Expertly?" "My eye!" exclaimed Laurence. "What do the police know about operation of miniature trains?"

"Probably not much. You think your special knowledge may help you discover something the police overlooked?"

"That's our hope."

"But how can either of you be sure that the other is not the murderer, trying to destroy evidence rather than uncover it?"

Laurence flushed. "Good Lord, Henry Potter! Why don't you come right out and say it! Which one of us do you think killed Ives—and Bissbe?"

"I'm not accusing either of you. You have just as much right to suspect me. What I'm trying to say is that no member of the model railroad club can be sure of anyone but himself."

Laurence looked at Hans. Hans looked at Laurence. "By golly, you be right!" Hans said.

The face of Laurence Harkness paled, then reddened again. "You're destroying our confidence in each other!"

"It should be destroyed," Henry insisted. "If we put any man—or woman—above suspicion, we may be helping the murderer."

"Keep the women out of it," Laurence told him. "You've got no right to cast reflections on a lovely girl like Susan Baker!"

"Oh, so it is true?"

"What's true?"

"Never mind!" Henry turned to his son. "Richard, I think it's time you and I started for home. You've got to be up early for school."

"Tomorrow's Saturday."

Henry frowned. "So it is—but that doesn't mean you can stay in bed any later than usual."

"Aw, gee! Can't I see the trains run again? You promised . . ."

Laurence looked at Henry coldly. "So that's why you came here tonight? You came to play with the trains. And after that remark you made to us . . ."

"It wasn't my doing," explained Henry hastily. "If you had a 15-year-old son you'd know how it was!"

Hans laughed. "By golly! You like our trains! Ay knew you would!"

"Nothing of the kind!" Henry denied angrily. Nevertheless, he felt a guilty flush on his face as he went out the door.

3. Who is the author of the saying, "Rome was not built in a day"?

Hints on Etiquette

When you plan a house party, remember that guests at such affairs should know each other or those who can easily become acquainted. Also those that have the same sort of tastes and enjoy the same things.

Words of Wisdom

True liberty consists only in the power of doing what we ought to will, and in not being restrained to do what we ought not to will. —Jonathan Edwards.

Today's Horoscope

Abundant good fortune, great happiness and pleasure are presaged for today's birthday children. Dealings in property and land will be successful. Unexpected gains and pleasant surprises will attend them. Born on this date a child will be exceptionally lucky and evince many fine traits. He or she will be exceedingly popular. Some trouble through jealousy is probable, which is the only unfavorable element prognosticated.

For Thursday, June 26

A PARTICULARLY lively day, with much stirring of a thrilling and surprising character materializing in both the private and business life. There should be quite unforeseen profit as well as pleasure, with all affairs moving under unusually high pressure and constructively. However this tension if carried to excess may result in some features born of enmity or jealousy. But generally there is stability, with increased possessions and finances, enhanced popularity in business as well as social prestige.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of much initiative and tension, with much enterprise and energy resulting in unexpected profits and productivity. Increased real possessions as well as finances are to be the reward for aggressive and well-directed attack, but this should not be carried to excess as there are hints of jealousy and enmity. Be guided by the intuitions and aspirations as well as logic, and this warming, expanding and happy influence will pervade the social, romantic and domestic life also.

A child born on this day while being temperamental, aggressive and high powered in action may also have deep and constructive understanding of its affairs, which should thrive and bring riches as well as pleasure in life.

Housewarming Held For Bride in Her New Home

Mrs. Sterley Croman
Plans Event Held
Wednesday

Mrs. Sterley Croman of Washington Township honored her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Forrest Croman, at a delightful party Wednesday. The affair was arranged as a housewarming and was held at the new home on the Croman farm of the young Mr. and Mrs. Croman who were married last November. Mr. Croman has just been graduated from Ohio State University.

During the surprise miscellaneous shower arranged by the guests, the bride received many lovely gifts.

Tea was served in the dining room, a beautiful arrangement of June roses centering the table where Miss Virginia McCord and Miss Ruth Kerr presided.

The guests included Mrs. John Bolender and Mrs. Mae Groce of Circleville; Mrs. Carl Gearhart, Clarksburg; Mrs. Shirley Gearhart and mother, Mrs. Eklstein, of Kingston; Mrs. Chauncey McCord, Miss Helen McCord, Miss Virginia McCord, Ashville; Miss Kerr, Rio Grand; Mrs. Robert McCoy, Mrs. LeRoy May, Mrs. Walter Richards, Mrs. Arthur Marshall, Mrs. D. A. Marshall, Mrs. James Lovett, Mrs. A. M. Bosworth, Mrs. Russell Palm, Mrs. Elmon Richards, Mrs. Hazel Bowman, Mrs. Guy Stockman, Mrs. M. M. Bowman, Mrs. Howard Leist, Mrs. Creation Kraft, Mrs. Turney Kraft, Mrs. Earl Klingensmith, Mrs. George Goodchild, Mrs. Georgie Mannon, Mrs. Floy Brobst, Mrs. M. J. Valentine, Mrs. Marvin Steely, Miss Hulda Leist, Miss Ethyl May, Miss Cora Beougher, Miss Edwina Holderman of Washington Township and Miss Mary Shortridge, Jackson Township.

Church of Brethren Aid
The Ladies' Aid Society of the Church of the Brethren held its June meeting at the home of Mrs. Gene Davis. Thirteen members and one visitor were present. Two new members were received.

After the devotional and business session, refreshments were served by Mrs. Joe Holbrook and Mrs. Kenneth Dagon.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Hall, South Scioto Street.

Birthday Party
Mrs. Samuel Dearth of Pickaway Township entertained at a birthday surprise party in honor of her daughter, Carolyn, who was 13 Wednesday, June 25. Games and contests occupied the guests during the gay afternoon.

Carolyn received many gifts from her friends. Mrs. Dearth served lunch at the close of the party.

The guests included Mary Penn, Rita Rhoads, Nancy McGinnis, June Hildenbrand, Patty Wolfe, Margaret Rolland, Bonnie Dearth, Mrs. John Dearth and Mrs. A. H. Shasteen.

Logan Elm Grange
Logan Elm Grange will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m. in the Pickaway Township School auditorium.

Piano Recital
More than 200 guests from Circleville and Pickaway County attended the annual piano recital of pupils of Mrs. Leon Van Vleet Tuesday and Wednesday at her home studio, West High Street, and were greatly impressed by the work of the young players. Children from the primary, junior and senior classes were presented in three periods, the first, Tuesday at 8 p. m., the other two, Wednesday at 3 and 8 p. m.

The junior pupils, assisted by a few of the older students, were presented Tuesday evening and showed great poise as they played the various well chosen selections, several playing entirely from memory. The remarkable progress of this group during the last year of study was noted in the greater ease of manner and their improving technique.

Pupils from four through high school age were heard in the Wednesday afternoon recital, a unique feature of the program being the numbers in which mothers played with their children. Mrs. V. D. Kerns played a trio with her small daughter, Donna Jean, and her

The climax of the recital was the senior group program Wednesday which was a real treat from the first solo by Miss Eleanor Bumgarner to the closing two-piano sextet by boy players including Clifford Kerns, James Hill, Robert McCoy, Glenn McCoy, Robert Porter and Ned Barthelmas. They displayed remarkable steadiness and showed excellent training in their presentation of their selection, "Lucia Di Lammermoor," by Fasanotti.

Another sextet number, "Semi-ramide Di Rosini," Fasanotti, was heard with Mrs. Paul Thompson, Miss Helen Wilson, Miss Harriet Heffner, Miss Mary Ruth Noggle, Miss Polly Jane Kerns and Miss Mary Catherine Stein at the two pianos.

Miss Louise Thomas, of Jackson Township, offered two vocal solos, "Savior Divine," Norman, and "God Bless America," Berlin.

Miss Harriet Heffner received well deserved applause with her group of numbers including "Danse Hongroise," Du Val, which she played as a solo; "Waltz in A-flat," Brahms, which she and Mrs. Van Vleet played in unison on two pianos, and her piano duo, "Country Gardens," Grainger, played with Mrs. Van Vleet at the second piano.

Nell Louise Burgarner, an eighth grade pupil of Jackson Township school, who appeared in the three periods of the recital, proved herself a versatile young player from the variety of her selections and showed thorough preparation in her excellent playing from memory.

Mrs. Van Vleet's home was banked with a profusion of garden flowers and June roses for the three delightful affairs.

Elks' Picnic

About 500 persons including Elks, their wives and lady guests gathered at Gold Cliff Park Wednesday and enjoyed the hospitality of the Circleville B.P.O. Elks at a delightful outing.

An excellent picnic supper was served at 6:30 p. m. with hot roast beef as the main dish. Places were found at tables under the lovely trees of the park for the supper hour.

Jimmy Carpenter and Clarence Ater were assisted in preparing and serving the bountiful meal by David Dunlap, William Crist and George Myers.

Swimming, roller skating, cards and various other games occupied the guests during the afternoon and evening.

SLASH IN WPA EXPENDITURES TO BE SUBJECT OF JULY 3 CONFAB

RELIEF OFFICE MAY FACE HUGE CUT IN FUNDS

Sewing, Road Projects May Feel Heaviest Burden, Marcy Hints

AID COST MUCH LOWER

State-Wide Reduction Of 40 Percent Ordered Under New Program

Cuts in WPA appropriations for Pickaway County soon after July 1 were seen by local relief authorities, Thursday, when they received a letter from the state WPA office informing them that a state representative would meet with the county commissioners, the county welfare director and the county engineer, to discuss the reduction on WPA quotas. The meeting was set for July 3.

D. E. Matheny, district director of operations, from whom the letter was received, gave local relief authorities no indication of what the county reduction would be, but Relief Director Delos Marcy said he believed the county reduction would run considerably under the 40 percent reduction proposed for the state as a whole.

National defense projects are expected to be exempt from the reduction, although the county has few projects which could be considered as such. Possibilities are that the national defense training schools, one in Circleville and one at Perry Township school, will not be affected by the cut. The recreation centers also may be exempt, Relief Director Marcy said.

To Hurt Sewing Center

The slice in WPA appropriations will cripple the sewing center and the county road projects the worst, local officials believe. At present about 200 WPA clients are working on road construction projects in the county. Williamsport Road Number 117 in Deercreek and Perry Townships is furnishing work for 100 men. The work consists of widening, grading and resurfacing about 3 1/2 miles of the road and the widening and improving of bridges and culverts.

Madison Township Road Number 8, 3.3 miles of grading and resurfacing work, is holding 100 WPA men, and the Turkey Run bridge project in Walnut Township about 25 men. The Turkey Run project is nearly completed, County Engineer Henry McCrady said. When work on the bridge is finished the 25 men will be transferred to one of the other two projects. The projects in Deercreek and Madison Townships are expected to keep men employed for another three months.

One of the chief purposes of the WPA slash is to encourage men now on WPA roles to seek private employment in industry promoting defense production, Director Marcy said. The number on WPA in the county has shown a marked reduction in the last several months. At the same time county relief costs have been cut almost in half of what they were last year, an indication that more men are being privately employed than in 1940.

May Clear Problems

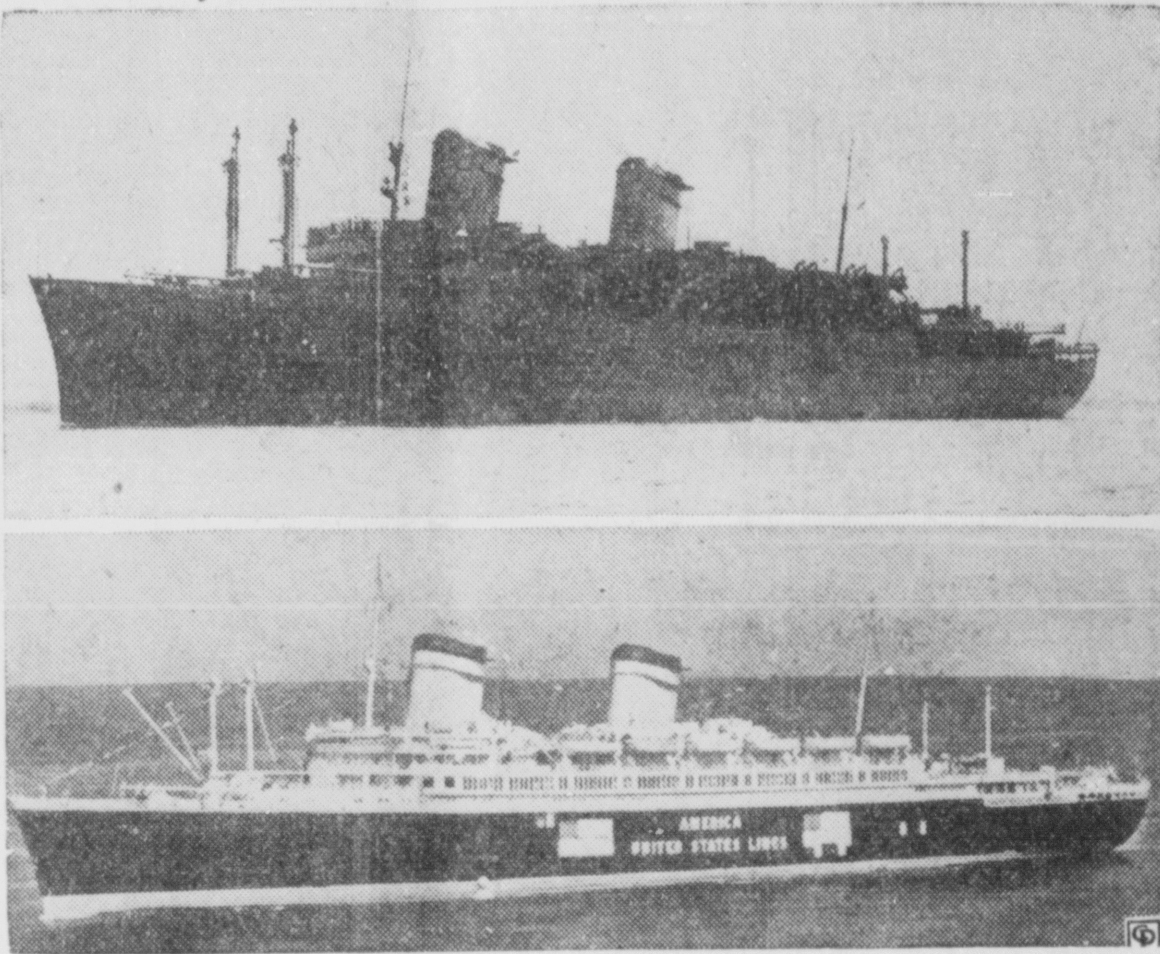

One of the chief problems which may arise for county officials from the WPA cuts is that of completing on schedule road projects which already are under way. Authorities hope the July 3 meeting, to be held in the commissioners' office in the Court House, will clear some of their problems.

SALE AND PROFIT IN OHIO LIQUOR DEPARTMENT UP

COLUMBUS, June 26—Both sales and net profits of Ohio's liquor monopoly zoomed to a new all-time high for the first five months of 1941, while operating expenses sank to a new low, State Liquor Director Jacob B. Taylor reported today.

The sales total of $25,847,565 exceeded that of the same period of 1940 by $3,470,011, and the 1939 figure by $5,325,649. Net profits and gallonage taxes totaled $7,436,493, an increase of $601,359 over the first five months of last year and $1,197,159 over 1939.

Operating expenses, despite the increases, dropped $9,300 from the 1940 figure to a new five-months low of $1,402,956, which is $33,605 less than spent to May 13, 1939.

Taylor warned, however, that continuing decreases in operating expenses could not be expected if sales increases continue to mount as rapidly as they have the last few months.

"Many of the expenses are variable and increase in direct proportion to sales," he pointed out.
